PART 1

The following is an account as told to this Author which involves the Earth visits of one, Valiant Thor, of another Planet.

This testimony is for the benefit of all Earth people. If you believe this really happened, then it is true. If you do not believe it happened, just treat it . . . as a novel.

Valiant addressed a special group at the United Nations in closed session. The unusual security ramifications of his Earth visit forced the exclusion of the national and international press media from this meeting.

He appeared of his own free will, in fact, he called the meeting.

INTRODUCTION

My name is Valiant Thor. I am a native of the planet you call Venus. It is not too unlike your Earth, in fact, we still enjoy the air-conditioned atmosphere that Earth had before the great flood.

I am on a special mission to this planet. We are over seventy in number and there are certain Earth friends working with us. In order to protect them, their names, etc., have been changed.

I have also related several incidents directly involving UFOs or Flying Saucers (as you call them). Those involved in each case have also been renamed to protect them against unscrupulous individuals who delight in making life miserable for innocent victims of circumstances.

The United Nations delegates were stunned to the point of sheer anger, mixed with fear. But, go ahead read on. Your personal reaction will be interesting for us to record.

The following pages will reveal much . . . at least to those who are capable of discerning knowledge, wisdom and above all, understanding.

To these friends I say God bless you—to all others, God help you.

VISIT NUMBER 1

We approached our reconnaissance target with anticipation, for we had heard that this planet (although our most powerful detectors indicated it was not capable of sustaining life) might contain a surprise. Sure enough, when we broke through the heavy overcast, we saw a form of living creatures running to and fro, pointing up excitedly. When our ship dropped lower, it was greeted with a bevy of stones, hurled by these naked, hairy beings. We moved quickly away, lest we cause someone a coronary.

Our reconnaissance exploration voyage was a success ! And although the Victor I cruised slowly around the planet, over lush green areas of seemingly impenetrable underbrush, waters of blue and green, high mountain ranges, and what seemed like miles of meadows, it was only in this one land area (marked H-1 on our maps) that there appeared to be people, as we knew people.

This inviting planet, the third from the shiny warmth of the same bright star that we revolve around, was due for many subsequent visits.

Upon our return to our home planet, we were commissioned with the task of 'observing' this planet which we called "Trios." (Earth)

VISIT NUMBER 2

On our second visit our instructions were only to observe -- not contact. Because of our familiarity with Section H-1 of Trios, we made it a point to go directly to this area first and when we spotted the clearing, some changes were immediately apparent. My 1st Magnetic Control Officer said,

"Val, they've gone from the caves and have built huts of hardened mud, leaves and branches."

We dropped a bit closer. The females grabbed up the little ones, the animals scattered, but the men stood firm—gripping bow and arrows and spears. They let loose with a barrage of these weapons. Of course, they could not even reach us, much less hurt our craft.

Our Scan Control Officer, Filo, called our attention to the fact that they looked almost like we do. They also at this time, had pieces of animal skins covering their bodies. The televiewer combined with our TAXTO revealed what sounded like defiant gibberish.

During our return trip home (which only took us twelve Earth hours) we discussed the manner in which these creatures sought to protect themselves against any foreign force. We also marveled at their progress since our last visit.

Control Headquarters received our report with curious anticipation.

VISIT NUMBER 3

By now, through our scanning device, we were able to pinpoint long before we arrived at our destination. Movement and visible signs of continued progress and even evidence of civilization were visible. This was most encouraging.

We swung low over H-1 and were surprised by what appeared to be a conflict. On one side of the hill were dark-skinned boys with feathers in their head bands, the others were completely clothed.

Our presence must have startled the two opposing forces. Suddenly, both forces looked up, then started to run, throwing spears and shooting arrows.

Then came a burst of a dark cloud. Our sensors detected a metal missile that had been fired up at us. This was new. Our translatory TAXTO informed us that they now had a weapon called the rifle, or as the "Indians" called them, thunder sticks.

We were able to determine that the conflict stemmed over land possession rights. There was much to be desired from both sides.

After leaving H-l, a careful journey around this planet revealed many changes, as subsequent visits were to reveal.

From every indication, it was quite evident that these beings were war-like from the very beginning. Upon completing our aerial survey, we returned home.

VISIT NUMBER 4

Our computors recorded loud reports from what was later revealed as cannon fire. We saw, with unbelieving eyes . . . men arrayed against one another in what we learned was a Civil War.

A lonely, bearded man sat alone with his head bowed. Strange, .. .but our detectors picked up words that were translated to say, "Dear God, please deliver us from this bloody conflict. " While the rest of the conversations and incidents were fed into our machines, to be later translated and placed into their proper locations for scrutiny by our Central Control Officer, we learned that this indeed was a critical time in the history of this planet.

Suddenly our thoughts were shattered by the warning buzzer. Our force-field had been hit — by a missile shot from a cannon. We were very close to the ground when this happened, but our force field rendered the shot completely ineffective. We noted the anger mingled with fear that our presence had caused. Quickly rising out of range, we took a sample of the voices in the atmosphere. This was fed into our TAXTO devices where it was translated and made a part of our official report to Central Control.*

Upon our return to Venus we were greeted and ushered into the office of Central Control.

Our report was received and a special meeting of the Council was called. We were closely questioned about our encounter with Earth beings.

Upon a recommendation by Central Control, it was decided that our crew would remain intact and that our return to Earth would help us discover many other facets of their civilization. The time for the next trip would be set by Central Control, as we all fully realized the critical condition building up on Earth.

VISIT NUMBER 5

Our charts revealed that we were entering the Earth's envelope and heading for an area on the Earth map called Washington, D. C. Our scanner was turned on as well as TAXTO — to pick up and translate voices in the atmosphere. To our dismay we learned that the President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, was dead. We were to learn that a certain actor, inspired by hate mongers, was ordered (by a political-religious system) to destroy Mr. Lincoln. Our computers revealed that another similar plot was to cause much confusion at a future date; and the facts would not be as they were made to appear.

Our ship cruised around the area where a National conflict was taking a heavy toll in human lives and property. During this time, we were observed by many Earth people. It was interesting to note that fear of ridicule kept many of these people from talking about the sighting.

The military denied our existence despite the fact that many of them discussed our presence behind locked doors.

Our determination at that time was that planet Earth was in the midst of very dark and uncertain times, and so our spaceship headed back to Venus.

VISIT NUMBER 6

Earth year 1945 AD found us passing through a meteor bombardment. As we approached the outer perimeter of the atmosphere, we were dumbfounded to see a giant mushroom cloud off in the distance — with its ominous stem having its root on Earth. Though we were about one-half mile from this creation of man, our ship was not affected by its heat or radiation.

We were horrified to scan the surface and discover the destruction of over 80,000 humans — to see the painful human reaction of these poor people whose lives would never be the same because of the effects of radiation.

An immediate report to Central Control created a condition that necessitated a fleet of 100 ships to be promptly dispatched from Venus to completely circle the Earth and maintain a constant vigil.

In the years that followed, we were fired upon by propeller-driven planes as well as new jet planes. We were also observed and reported by manned space capsules of various nations.

On one occasion over the midwestern states, a certain brave but foolish pilot maintained a collision course, — aiming his plane directly at one of our mother ships. Not wishing to see this man lose his life, they dematerialized the forward slide doors and permitted him to fly directly into the ship. Of course, they had taken over control of his jet which was brought to an abrupt halt. The pilot fainted. After regaining consciousness and learning the truth about us, he literally refused to return to Earth. Today, he is one of our finest instructors on Earth men and their ways.

By this time, powerful missiles were being launched from an area designated Cape Canaveral. Space probes were being carefully conducted. Earth satellites were being experimented. One nation in particular has many dead bodies in space coffins (capsules) revolving around Earth, thus revealing their utter disregard for human life.

We were summoned before the High Command of Venus. Upon being alerted as to the purpose of the meeting, I reported the following observations concerning the Earth and its people.

- - Because of a history of war, unhappiness, hard toil, little reward, broken promises, disease, sickness and death, these people are in need of help. This help has been offered by the Almighty Creator, manifested through His Son, Jesus Christ, Who gave His life. He was refused, falsely accused in a mock, illegal trial, found guiltly of unfounded charges, reviled and finally nailed to a wooden cross.

After three days, He proved His Diety by defying death and rising from the dead.

It is curious to note that although many of the "Earth Saviours" had claimed this power, only Jesus was able to follow through.

Yes, He is rejected by the majority of Earth people. His word, the Bible, though a popular seller, is not heeded.

I recommended a physical contact with the leaders of the United States first, then with other nations. We cannot force our will upon them, but we can make recommendations.

I further recommended that an aerial display over the Capitol be effected in order todispell any doubts of our actual physical existence. (This was carried out later — to the dismay of the Federal Government.)

The High Council approved these recommendations and placed the entire matter directly under my command. My first job, shortly after the Washington aerial display, "was to appoint seventy (70) Venusian men and women to assist me in the task ahead.

THE EARTH MISSION

The mother carrier (as Earth men called it) rested on the pad during the ceremony commemorating our unique mission. We were instructed to:

1. Mingle with and become as Earth people
2. Work and labor in Earth enterprises
3. Help those who encounter possible threat or danger while striving for world peace
4. Give them advice and guidance
5. Entrust with superior knowledge those who have proven themselves
6. Divulge the essence of our mission to the collective National Leaders of Earth, only when the time is right.

I have often wondered how the human family would regard the value of our mission. The words of the High Council rang in my ears—many times over during the 3-1/2 years I spent at the Pentagon in the American National Capitol.

Here, we all stood, as the High Council raised his hands and lead us in prayer.

"Oh, High Majesty, Divine Creator of the Universe, we adjure Thee and beseech Thee to lead our deeds, govern our very thoughts as we endeavor to help Thy wayward children back into the full knowledge and understanding of Your ways.

Lead our Brother Valiant, as he chooses wisely those whom he will contact on the third planet.

We know that the ultimate result will be . . . the express will of God and the establishment of Your Kingdom. Thank you Divine Creator. Amen.

VISIT NUMBER 7

Our ship glided through the Radiation Belt surrounding Earth without affecting us because of our protective force field.

As we remained motionless above a place called Godman Field, Kentucky, we were amazed to see the amount of progress that man had made in such a short time. The Earth date was January 7, 1948. The airplane was being used for civilian as well as Military purposes. Automobiles, trains, steamboats, and electricity, opened new opportunities for research and development of man. Radio was being freely used and television was then in the experimental stages.

We monitored the Earth's radio and discovered that U. S. Army authorities had relayed an official warning from the Police that something unusual was in the sky. Hundreds of Earth people from a town called Madisonville, 90 miles from Fort Knox, excitedly called the attention of the Military to our ship.

Suddenly, we noted three propeller-driven aircraft hurtling towards us. Soon two of the planes were obliged to abandon chase because of their lack of fuel, but the third bravely attempted to get closer to us. With our Veri Shields down, he could see us, and as we monitored his radio, we could hear his attempt to describe our ship. We realized his oxygen supply was almost exhausted. He was in great danger and we knew what the end result would be.

As Commander of the ship I took immediate steps to save his life. The order was given to envelop his plane with life light. Our repellent force was modified to lock directly onto his plane. We hooked on to his radio and caught his message which stated; "The thing looks metallic — of tremendous size. It's going up now and forward as fast as I am — that's 360 miles per hour. I'll go up to 20, 000 feet. I see windows . . ." Suddenly he lost consciousness. Within moments we had him on board our craft. This was the first time that we had directly interfered with Earth men's affairs. When the repellent force was released, the plane plummeted toward the earth and crashed in an open field. Flames shot skyward when the explosion that followed destroyed the plane completely.

The U.S. Air Force's evaluation was quite humorous. They said this brave pilot was killed while chasing the Planet Venus. They never did admit not finding the pilot's body. One of your Earth Astrophysicists, Dr. D. H. Menzel of Harvard University, reported that the F-51 was, in reality, chasing a mock sun. However, the townspeople as well as the Military had a difficult time convincing those who saw our ship from the ground.

Your Air Force, through Major Jerry Boggs (who revealed the Venus evaluation), neglected to realize that Venus appears as a pinpoint of light in the night sky. Not of tremendous size (as is our mother ship), . . . and the incident occurred at 1515 hours . . . 3:15 in the afternoon.

We monitored another radio call from a place called Lockbourne AF Base in Columbus, Ohio. They tracked us at 550 miles per hour.

This Earth pilot, Phillip by name, was intrigued with our ship. He related how thankful he was to us for saving his life. The journey back to our home planet was taken very well by Phillip. He certainly was a happy man. He was also elated over the fact that he looked like us—or rather we looked like him. Being an orphan and having no family caused him to grasp this — what he called a 'wild adventure.'

Phillip was introduced to Central Control and was invited to remain as long as he desired. Of course, with the atmosphere being basically the same as on the Earth, he had no difficulty adjusting himself to Venus.

Part of my mission to this planet was: (1) to help these creatures back to the Creator, (2) to neutralize their entire stockpile of nuclear weapons and render these useless against the possibility of destroying any more members of the human family, and (3) to encourage a One-World Government under the control of God-loving scientists and not professional politicians, prior to the establishment of God's Kingdom.

You see, a chain atomic reaction could easily result because of the separation of the elements of the air. Earth could be destroyed, thus creating many problems; the main problem being an imbalance in direct relationship to other bodies of our present solar system.

Consider that the Earth's atmosphere is composed of four basic elements; water, fire, air and earth, and a vague fifth element — ether: the pressure being equal to 14.69 pounds per square inch at sea level. Your Earth is a spheroid with an equatorial diameter of 7927 miles plus a polar diameter of 7900 miles.

It is the third planet from our Sun. The average solar distance being some 93 million miles. It orbits around the sun in 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, and 46 seconds; or an equinoctial year. It rotates on its axis causing day and night.

The only recognized satellite is the Moon, whose gravitational pull. . ., together with that of the Sun, influences the rise and fall of the tides.

The Earth is also the fifth largest planet of the solar system.

Speaking of artificial satellites, we placed waystations or substations in orbit around your planet on August 14, 1953. Of course, your scientists were cognizant of our presence, but were forced to remain silent. However, one of your California newspapers, the San Francisco Chronical, dated November 1, 1966, revealed our presence to the civilized world.

For your own notebook, you may want to add that this was the FIRST TIME that the official catalogue "Satellite Situation Report" had listed "UNKNOWNS" among the many rocket bodies, satellites and space junk, tracked by your United States radar and other detection devices.

Military officials strenuously argued against listing them in the Satellite Report for fear that Flying Saucer enthusiasts would pounce upon the expression "UNKNOWN" and claim that these objects were evidence that your planet was being observed by beings from other worlds.

But, I must not get ahead of my story. My 'Saucer' as many called it, took me from the mother carrier and landed in a clearing just North of High Bridge, New Jersey. I was already informed that a certain group of individuals, who were interested in UFOs, were meeting as a small convention.

Together with three members of the crew, I joined the 'convention.' We had already changed into clothes resembling those of Earth friends.

The meeting was very interesting. They were certainly on the right track. However, it dismayed me to learn of the undignified manner in which these people were treated by the press. Nevertheless, when Earth people believe something to be true, they pursue it to the ultimate end. This is good!

That night, I reviewed the events of our first day among the Earth people. I remembered how a certain curious young photographer, snapped several pictures without our knowledge (so he thought). How he seemed to be greatly troubled when I attempted to converse with him. Yet, little did he know at that time that his camera was to bring me together with a man who would be my prime Earth contact man when the Time was Right.

This man was to suffer much at the hands of unscrupulous men who regard neither God nor man. Men whose sole desires are to create confusion, cast false accusations and attempt to elevate themselves by attempting to step on others. But eventually, all of these false front organizations will come to naught. Therefore, we instructed our friend not to be overly concerned with the foolishness of these doubleminded men.

The next step was to seek the leader of what was considered the Free World. We immediately laid plans to achieve this end by making open contact with this responsible individual.

I left the Mother Star Ship in a scout again and descended to a point just outside the city limits of Alexandria, Virginia. In order to minimize any threat or danger to our crew, we neutralized the Government Radar System as we broke into the atmosphere.

Upon leaving the scout, I was met by two State Policemen with their weapons drawn. A thought transference quickly convinced them that I meant no harm or danger. Immediately convinced, they ushered me into the back seat of their patrol car.

They violated all rules and regulations governing interstate borderlines of police authority after a quick radio call to someone in Washington. The patrol car crossed the state line into Washington, D. C. The Secretary of Defense, with a staff of six men and one woman, met me at the entrance to the Pentagon Building.

Insomuch as the State Police car route took me by the National Airport, the National Park Police, the Airport Police, the local Virginia Police, municipal and county police, plus the Pentagon MPs, all anxious to get into the act, claimed their right to escort me to the President. Finally, I neutralized all of their thinking and proceeded to pass through the Security posts, followed by an Air Force Captain. During this same time, three scout ships, 30 feet in diameter, landed (by my prior instructions) at Edwards Air Force Base in California. They were under remote control from the Mother craft. The purpose was to prove to the technical intelligence of this Government that there was much to be learned from us. The ships are there to this day. Though they have attempted every which way to penetrate the ship, they still have not been able to as much as make a mark on the surface, even though they employed the use of their laser.

My presence in Washington had evidently thrown them into a dilemma. I had no entry papers, no passport, no visa, . . . and to add to their consternation . . . no fingerprints.

The introduction I held from the High Council worried them even more

. . . because, though not written in any earthly language, their minds were given power to properly translate the inscribed message.

Captain Gould advised me to please stay put until further instructions. He quickly gulped down two plain bourbons and muttered "my God, why couldn't this have happened on my day off?"

Finally the door burst open and I was ordered to follow six armed guards into what appeared to be an elevator. It sank rapidly to the bottom-most level. Maximum security was in full force.

We then transferred to an underground train which sped us toward the capitol building.

The reception committee at the other end was quite excited. Six officials, plus an additional six armed guards and three secret servicemen escorted me into the office of the President of the United States.

As we walked in I noted a worried look on the face of the President. The secret servicemen were nervous and uneasy. The President rose from behind his desk as we all walked toward him. I raised my hand to shake his -- suddenly the three secret servicemen drew their revolvers and pointed them at me before my hand touched that of the President; he nervously nodded to them and they slowly lowered their guns.

Standing in front of his desk he said, "Of course, you know we have both suspended all rules of protocol. I have a good feeling toward you. Please, sir, what is your name?" I replied, "Valiant." "And, where do you come from?" "I come from the planet your Bible calls the morning and the evening star." "Venus?" "Yes, sir." "Can you prove this?" he asked; I replied, "What do you constitute as proof?" He quickly retorted, "I don't know."

"Will you come with me to my ship?" He answered me with a quizzical look and said, "My friend, I cannot come and go as I please. There are others to be considered. There are committees to be consulted and security measures to be adhered to. Please spend some time with us here—let's get better acquainted—learn more about one another — and perhaps soon, real soon, well . . . we shall see."

At that moment, another gentlemen rushed into the room. It turned out to be the Vice-President. He appeared to be very sharp, quick-witted, with fixed eyes and an amazing attitude toward speed and proficiency.

"My name is Valiant," I said. He thrust out his hand without hesitation and said, "You have certainly caused a stir . . . for an out of towner."

He smiled as he continued. "Of course, we are not totally convinced of anything just yet. But, suffice it to say we are checking and double checking everything you say and do."

"When Sergeant Young from Alexandria radioed in and stated you had just landed in a flying saucer, we thought," he continued, "Sergeant Young had flipped. Say, were you in on that UFO flap over Washington? You certainly had us all in a dither, if you were."

I assured him that this planet had been under close scrutiny ever since the 1945 A-bomb blast.

With my special letter still in the slightly quivering hand of the President, I was requested to follow the SS back the way we came . . . to the Pentagon into a beautifully furnished apartment where I was obliged to spend the next three years.

Fortunately, I was prepared for such a lengthy visit. I kept in constant communication with the star ship. There were many occasions during that period of time that I teleported myself in and out of those quarters. Others of my crew did the same. Oft times we also exercised "trans-imagery," that is, caused the security guards to visualize our face on a nonexistent I.D. badge on our lapel, as we passed in and out of the Pentagon, as well as other offices in Washington.

This manner was to be utilized for a person whom we were instructed to contact in months to follow.

Earth year, 1959, was fast drawing to a close. Chiefs of State were in a constant turmoil. Confusion was the rule of the day. Indecision caused delay after delay. Economists and industrial king pins conferred with politicians and military heads daily.

The Government leaders could not reconcile my being in a position to force their hand, if I so wished. Several scientists attempted to learn secrets of intersteller travel—without success.

Holding the message in his hand, the President stated that my offer to help the human family would upset the economy of the United States and plunge her into the abyss of chaos.

In brief, I was politely informed that the people of this planet were not ready to cope with such a condition. Nevertheless, I was cautiously invited to assist a number of scientists who were working on medical projects directly associated with space sciences.

Upon my refusal to advise them on a certain "bomb in the sky" project, this other project seemed more reasonable. My allotted time to acquaint these men with our suggestions was limited to three Earth years.

In my apartment I was able to converse with my ship. They likewise kept me fully cognizant of growing world tension.

During this time my space uniform (as they called it) was undergoing rigid tests. They attempted to penetrate my suit but the diamond drill snapped under the pressure. The acid rolled off of my suit and burned holes in the floor. One overanxious officer fired a bullet at the garment but gave up when the bullet failed to penetrate.

Then, one bright-eyed Colonel made a hurried telephone call. I was escorted to an underground chamber where my suit (according to the Colonel as he gleefully shot a glance over his shoulder) would be subjected to the final test.

Of course, I could have told him the outcome. He grinned defiantly as he personally gave the command to uncover the laser beam instrument. I was still very amused. Upon command, the laser aimed a fine line of intense light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation. The Colonel began his discourse on the laser. He stated that this device contained a crystal-synthetic ruby to be exact — in which atoms, when stimulated by focused light waves, amplify and concentrate these waves, then emit the beam. As he continued to speak, his smile vanished as they all looked at each other in utter dismay. The ray was totally ineffective against my garment.

The Colonel babbled on long after the laser had been turned off. He reiterated how powerful the U. S. had become since the splitting of the atom. He gave me a lesson in atomic fusion. He went on to state that when a chain reaction of nuclear fission is set off by a neutron bombardment in the atoms, of a charge of plutonium or of uranium isotope with an atomic weight of 235 (U-235),an immense quantity of energy is suddenly released.

Their report to the President concerning my uniform read:

Physical appearance — Soft silver and gold lustrous
Fabric — Unknown
Weight — Six ounces, total, including boots
Cut — Close fitting like a tunic; no cuffs, pockets, buttons, zippers, clips or hooks
RXT-2 Tests – Indestructible

The good Colonel finally talked himself out as I was conducted back to my quarters—with my uniform.

Christmas week was upon us. A certain Miss Nancy Warren was assigned to assist me with my tasks. She was the only one since my arrival at the Pentagon in whom I was able to discern an honest and open heart. She loved the Almighty, loved her Country, as well as her fellowman. I was able to read her from the day of her first Earthly breath to this second.

Many Earth people live one life openly while in their hearts and in their thinking, live quite another. Doublemindedness seemed to be a way of life in this building that served as a busy nerve center of this nation. I had determined to visit this place some day while we were traveling through a PENUMBRA eons ago. I have never witnessed such concentrated confusion in one central place on any other planet in this galaxy.

I had received word that a certain man, a serious UFO researcher was presenting a series of lectures at a scientific symposium, then at a number of Washington churches. A plan was formed with the cooperation of Miss Warren.

He was to meet with me for a brief conversation the following day. A friendship would steadily grow from this meeting which would have a profound effect on world affairs in years to come.

Miss Warren attended the meeting this particular night and made the first approach to Dr. Segnarts. He had concluded his lecture. She went forward to speak with him. Strangely enough the young photographer in New Jersey had given my photograph to Dr. Segnarts just a few months prior to his lecture in Washington; D. C.

He had placed my photo on display along with other photos of UFOs. She gained his confidence to the point of meeting her the following morning to come to the Pentagon where I would be waiting for him.

Now you must understand that we are able to 'read' Earth people from birth to the present hour . . . and even beyond. This is a gift of the Almighty Creator for those created beings who have never transgressed His perfect laws.

The sun rose very brightly as Dr. Segnarts passed quickly in front of the unsuspecting security guards. They both 'VISUALIZED' an identification badge on his shirt. He was quite surprised at how easily this feat was accomplished, as he followed Miss Warren to the office where I was waiting.

As the door opened, he walked in and stood on the threshold. His stocky form shifted from one foot to the other as he cleared his throat. Of course, the three men in the room with me were entirely unaware of his presence. Therefore, they completely ignored him. This puzzled him.

You see, I had clouded their minds and rendered them oblivious to this entire session. They continued on with their work, paying no attention whatever to us. I then greeted him by his first name and with a warm handshake.

The revelation of my genuineness astonished him, but he was rather quick to understand. Within the space of thirty minutes, I was able to relate sufficient information regarding the importance of my mission. The only single thought that troubled him was my verbal expression "when the time is right."

There were a series of technical questions to which I gave him answers. One being the gravitational pull in comparison to Earth. I informed him that the abdominal muscles hold flesh firm against the mild gravitational pull of Venus, which is three-twentieths less than that of Earth.

However, the meeting was satisfactory and fruitful. The information that I gave him could be revealed to others over a period of years. I knew then, that I would be in communication with him for quite some time.

He would go from this place . . . a changed man. He would do and say things he had never thought of before.

My lack of fingerprints amused him. I reminded him of the time he was a special investigator; when he was taught the science of the impression of the lines and whorles on the inner surface of the last joint of each finger on the human hand.

I informed him that all Earth people were thusly marked since the fall of Adam in the Garden of Eden, during the very dawn of Civilization as we know it to be today.

I likewise prepared him for the serious task ahead. It would not be an easy road. There would be adversities. There would be organized attempts to both discourage and discredit him. But, in time, his efforts would be rewarded.

We discussed the merits of Jesus Christ. How He gave His life freely — so that men could enjoy the benefits of eternal life. He questioned me as to the Bible on Venus. I assured him that a personal unbroken fellowship with the 'Author' did not necessitate the printing of a 'book'.

It is very amusing how your learned Theologians of Earths' twentieth century attempt to discredit both Jesus Christ as well as the Bible. The very God they state is 'dead' continues to lavish them with all good things. Perhaps, in time, they will permit the spark of divine light to again illuminate their troubled hearts.

Our conversation was drawing to a close. This first visit pleased me very much. As Dr. Segnarts turned to leave, I felt that his heart was very heavy, but he was greatly encouraged as to 'what the future would hold.

My instructions were to leave Washington no later than March 16, 1960. That meant I had less than three Earth-months left. During that period of time, I had many conferences with scientists. The politicians, as well as the military, missed my point entirely. They were filled with self-ambition and cared little for the present, pressing needs of mankind.

My efforts to bring about an end to the sickness and disease that plagued this planet were met with fantastic, yet pathetic refusal. I was again warned that my presence was a threat to the political and economic structure. Certain religious leaders were also fearful of losing their grip on the people in the event that our presence was admitted on an official level.

It was very disheartening that the administration failed to lay hold on such information that would change the course of human activities for the good . . . because of economic reasons.

Security regulations were tightly enforced. But, despite the fact that they knew I came and went at will, they delighted in playing out their parts.

I communicated with Venus on a number of occasions. It was becoming quite evident that, because of my word not to invoke force, we would have to resort to another course of action. This necessitated our contact and communication with men of Godly character and strength.

My last meeting with the President did not reap any lasting results. He wanted to let the world know of my proposed plan, but the Secretary of Defense, the Head of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Military Chiefs of Staff were opposed to his suggestion. The President attempted to effect a joint meeting before the General Assembly of the United Nations. But this plan was likewise rejected. At this point, I informed them that the U.N. would receive a special 'Press Release' in the form of a memorandum to the Secretary General no later than February 7, 1966.

They argued long into the night. The fear of losing control and support of the people worried them. They argued that if the people learned about the plan I was offering, they might choose to follow me instead of them.

There was no reason for this as far as I was concerned. But when a man feels that his personal peace and tranquility may be threatened, the human reaction is always that of swift self-preservation.

At one point, the Vice-President insisted that the "Pressure Boys" allow the President to make the choice. He was vetoed without even a chance to complete his statements. This young man would be destined to greatness—but in the distant future. He was to suffer much disappointment, but would recover and go on to greater things.

From every indication world conditions were not growing any better. Much international pressure was being brought to bear upon this administration. They fought diligently and enforced rigid regulations with stiff penalties for revealing my presence.

One major newscaster inadvertently learned of my presence from one of his paid informants. This practice is not uncommon in a city like this. It seems that Earth money speaks every language and all dialects. He was forced into silence by none less than the Central Intelligence Agency.

You may be interested to know that this agency, while disclaiming all knowledge concerning UFOs, maintains secret files that could actually prove our existence beyond all doubt.

On the morning of the 15th of March, I had a lengthy meeting with Miss Warren. She would continue to work inside the Pentagon and be one of my contacts in Washington. She also would be in constant communication with others who would become a part of our Earth forces.

There are still many adversaries to human freedom. These parasites have imbedded themselves in human societies and will never be exposed except by extraterrestrial intervention.

By the same token, there are confused individuals who have perfected a saucer-type aircraft. These are a result of a one-time master race, of which a remnant still exists, and should not be confused with the spacecraft originating from other worlds or those coming from the interior of this planet. Nor should they be confused with those star travelers who are considered "evil messengers." They are in league with Earthly lowgrades who have condemned themselves because of their own choice.

We covered many facets of my so journ here. With our plans completed, I bid her goodbye for a brief time. That night I was in contact with Central Control. I was advised to return with a full memory report of my mission. I knew I was to leave Earth for a short time, then return to put my plans into full force.

March 16th was sunny and bright. I dematerialized my body and departed from this phase of my Earthly experience. My next stop was the outskirts of Alexandria, Virginia. Snow covered the ground where my ship and crew waited, hidden in a wooded area. I had no difficulty in reassembling the atoms of my body on the inside of my ship.

As my craft rose slowly, a number of Earth people stopped their vehicles and pointed excitedly in our direction. Others stood motionless with mouths open. The mental impression that I received caused me to want to hold these people close to my heart. I loved them.

There was no fear—no panic, just curiosity and excitement. I also caught several impressions of a strong desire to know more.

Off to the left, USAF jets came at us at full throttle. I flipped on our INVISOR and they darted past—not being able to see us. The ground radar control lost us also. Again, confusion was the word of the day. Confusion in action made this city what it was.

On the way back to Victor I, I meditated for a brief moment about my home planet — the low, heavy, colorful clouds, the even temperature, the perfectly diffused sunlight that made shadows almost nonexistent, the lushness of the rich green grass surrounding our home.

Suddenly my thoughts were shattered by a message from the star ship. My televiewer revealed a number of Earth people with whom I would have personal contact for quite some time.

Upon joining the others in star ship Victor I, I was happy to learn that Dr. Segnarts, after being challenged by Central Intelligence to remain silent, decided to inform the world of my presence.

Strangely enough, those who claimed disbelief were those who feared the most. Others figured that THEY should have been the ones contacted and not him. This was very humorous and again depicted human frailty and weakness. Many other contacts would take place during which time Dr. Segnarts would learn more of our plans.

Incidentally, for your information, I ordered seven of our ships to pass over restricted areas of Washington, D.C., on July 19, 1952. These ships were sent to investigate the report that UFOs from another planet had caused the violent crash of a BOAC Comet Jet in May of 1952 near Calcutta, India. Forty-three humans perished. An investigation officer of the British Civil Aviation Ministry stated in a U. P. teletype report that structural failure caused the tragedy. However, in the same teletype, he stated that the jetliner was "struck in the air by a fairly heavy body."

This also served the purpose of granting an opportunity for the World Press to report our presence.

Three of your experienced radar controllers checked and rechecked their observations because they picked up the blips on radar. They reported our ships accelerated from 130 to 500 MPH in less than 4 seconds.

A certain Capitol Airlines pilot with 17 years of flying experience also reported the ships.

On the 20th, three more of our ships joined the others.

Of course, your USAF "experts" claimed that the radar blips were caused by temperature inversion. Our ships were reflections of ground objects — cars, trains, etc.

What their evaluation amounted to was a reference to Dr. Donald Menzel's Theory which means "when a layer of warm air, light rays are refracted as they pass through. If a temperature-inversion is strong enough, 10 to 18 degrees difference — light rays may be reflected. This is what causes mirages on desert roads or heated roads. Like light, radar waves are also refracted or reflected.

Observation: They neglected to mention the fact that the actual temperature-inversion over Washington on the night of July 19, 1952 was one degree Fahrenheit, and . . . how about the visual sightings ?

Victor I landed in front of the headquarters building of Central Control. After briefing the council on my Earth visit, I was instructed to follow through on our alternate plan to make our wishes known to the world.

To repeat, our mission to your planet is as follows:

1. To mingle with and become as Earth people
2. To work and labor in Earth enterprises
3. To help those who encounter possible threat or danger while striving for world peace
4. To give them advice and guidance
5. To entrust with superior knowledge those who have proven themselves
6. Divulge the essence of our mission to the collective National Leaders of Earth, only when the time is right.

As of this year, we are continuing to help whenever and wherever we can. At the same time preventing your "civilization" from being the cause of orbital chaos by destroying your own planet or driving some into the sun.

Do not be so foolish as to attempt to find me. When the time is right, I will find you. There are many of us in your society right now. We have adjusted to your Earth conditions because we control our bodies. We are not susceptible to your atmosphere, your germs, or your viruses that plague Earth. We are also protected from your poison smog that kills so many in major cities.

But while the Creator wills, we shall continue our mission.

Remember, we might be your employer, your minister, your neighbor, or . . . your mate. (Your Bible warns that you should beware, lest you entertain heavenly messengers—unawares.)

I close this message with Universal love for the human family on this, the suffering planet, the disobedient planet, the Third Planet from the Sun.

'Plattery' Gets You Somewhere

At least that's the contention of Dr. Frank Stranges of Venice, head of the Investigation Committee on UFO. He claims he has factual evidence of the existence of interplanetary visitors. He'll speak on topic this week. (Evening Outlook Photo.)

Venice 'Saucer' Expert Says:

'U.S. Scared Of UFO Facts'

By DAVE BERMAN
Evening Outlook Staff Writer

They could call this story "Dr. Stranges" or "How I Stopped Worrying and learned To Like Little Green Men."

Dr. Frank E. Stranges, Venice's answer to Chicken Little, is considered one of the best-informed authorities on UFOs—unidentified flying objects — a euphemism for flying saucers.

As such, Dr. Stranges—he has doctor of psychology and philosophy degrees from Faith Bible College and Theological Seminary in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. — feels it his duty to let the American public know the "truth" about UFOs.

Lecture Scheduled

He'll attempt to do that Wednesday evening at the AIAA Building in Beverly Hills. His topic is "Factual Evidence of UFO" which promises to be, according the flier, "an astounding lecture illustrated with slides."

Dr. Stranges' ultimate goal in the world — or nether world of the UFO — is to "stir up enough interest to get open congressional hearings" on the matter.

The government is afraid to let the "facts" be known, according to Dr. Stranges, "for fear of mass hysteria."

Has Faith

"I have more faith in the American people," Dr. Stranges says.

He also has a wide assortment of convincing - looking photographs of flying saucers. They have all been blown up as far as photographically possible, he claims, to make sure there aren't any tell-tale wires holding things up.

He also has "witnesses by the truck load" as a result of his serving as director of the National Investigation Committee for UFO, which, he claims, has organizations in 22 countries. In that capacity, he spoke at a meeting of U.S. flying saucer clubs in Reno, Nev., recently.

South American Sightings

The objects, Dr. Stranges admits "could be interplanetary in origin for the most part." But the ones which have been sighted in South America, flying at less than the speed of sound, could be produced by German scientists who vanished after World War II.

U.S. military men who have spotted UFO have been muzzled by Air Force regulation 200-2, Dr. Stranges claims. If they were to reveal publicly information on UFOs, they would be subject to fine, imprisonment and dishonorable discharge.

Not Hostile

Fortunately for the nation, however, Dr. Stranges doesn't believe the "interplanetary visitors" are hostile. "They've been around too long," he says.

What are they up to then?

"Sightings have increased 80 per cent since 1945 after the A-bomb was dropped," Dr. Stranges said. "They may have thought we could create a big enough explosion to upset the solar system."

Dr. Stranges, who lives at 940 Venice Blvd., has been in the process of "warning" the U.S. about these tourists-sans-visas for years.

His book, "Flying Saucerama," is in its fourth edition in paperback. It is published by the International Evangelism Crusades Inc., the organization which he heads out of his office at the Carthy Studios building on Pico Boulevard in Los Angeels.

He also has a 45 r.p.m. record, "Flying Saucers Unlimited," based on a film he has produced called "Phenomena 7.7." The record is published under the Strange Enterprises label, arranged and produced by guess who.

Not Only Forte

Flying saucers aren't Dr. Stranges' only forte. In the back of his book, "Flying Saucerama," he has eight other "tremendous books."

One of these: "Which Bible??" promises to "reveal (the) conspiracy to distort, abort, manipulate, discredit the Truth of the Bible. Will expose true colors of "Federated National Council of Churches.' a. Greatest subversion plot in History: b. Mental Health Fraud; c. Soviet Techniques in the U.S.: d. Aim for World Government; e. The unwitting lusting by tapes, etc."

Dr. Stranges first became interested in the phenonomena when one of his college roommates was in Air Force squadron chased by three UFO. The objects were on a collision course. The planes had to scramble to avert destruction.

When they landed, they were informed they had been buzzed by a flock of high-flying Canadian geese. "Traveling at 5,000 to 7,000 miles per hour at 5,000 feet?" Dr. Stranges asks cynically.

The squadron members he later interviewed all agreed that the saucer-like objects coming at them were the weirdest looking geese they had ever seen.

With that as a start Dr. Stranges proceeded to compile an impressive file of affidavits and photos on UFOs. He claims that wherever he goes people in the audience claim to have had sightings themselves—only fear of ridicule keeps them silent.

He is constantly seeking people who have had such experiences. He asks they get in touch with him.

Even German scientists hiding out in the South American wilds.

PART II

Dr. Frank E. Stranges

Dr. Frank E. Stranges, son of Reverend and Mrs. Natale A. Stranges, was born and educated In Brooklyn, New York.

His research into the Flying Saucer Mystery was first inspired when a College roommate shared a strange experience involving three 'flying inverted dish-shaped objects' which they encountered during the war. The military experts informed the pilots that what they nearly ran into amounted to a 'flight of high-flying Canadian geese'. Of course, that evaluation included the fact that the pilots were flying at 10,000 feet in altitude and the 'geese' were traveling at speeds between five and seven thousand miles per hour.

Today, as the Director of the National Investigations Committee on UFOs, he is in a position to both receive and disseminate such UFO information that will throw much light on the subject.

His twenty-one years of research and investigations are carefully reflected in his book, Flying Saucerama - 4th printing), a new E.P. Record (Flying Saucers Unlimited), and now the new Color Film Documentary, "Phenomena 7.7".

He is also a member of the International Platform Association, Board member of the World University, member of the Association of Social Psychology, member of the Mayors' Community Advisory Committee, Los Angeles, Special Feature Columnist of the New Age World, and guest writer for a number of religious and science magazines.

Dr. Stranges holds a Ph.D in Psychology, a TH.D, D.D., B.Th., B.C.Ed., Ll.D., Doctor of Humanities, and Grand Evangelist of the Soverign Order of Alfred the Great.

As Director of the National Investigations Committee on UFOs, he is in a position to speak with authority. His lectures include appearances at the Metropolitan Opera House in Philadelphia; Cornegie Hall, New York; Phipps Auditorium, Denver; City Opera House, Mineapolis; Marines Hall, San Francisco; City Municipal Auditorium, Oakland; Shrine Auditorium, Wilshire-Ebell Theatre, and Lindy Opera House, Los Angeles; also in churches, schools, synagogues and in civic organizations.

Military and political experts have publicly challenged Dr. Stranges at Space Conventions, on radio and television, both by debate and discussion.

Hisauthentic information, gathered from all parts of the world, has resulted from personal contacts with persons from all walks of life, including scientists, airline pilots, engineers, astronomers, and military advisors. This intensive and concentrated research and investigation has clarified many misconceptions concerning Unidentified Flying Objects. Through his research from said personal contacts and visitations to actual sites of purported UFO landings, he has been in a position to properly evaluate all such reports.

FLYING SAUCERS

August C. Roberts

If anybody deserves to be honored as a "Flying Saucer Pioneer," that person is August C. Roberts. In the unfolding saucer drama his name has become as familiar as that of George Adarnski, Dr. Frank E. Stranges, Ray Palmer, Gray Barker, and other UFO Greats.

Yet, in this fascinating drama, Roberts has played a unique role unfulfilled by any of the others, who made contributions by way of the printed word.

While the others recorded their prose in books and magazines, Roberts recorded these exciting events on film. Roberts became the first, and certainly (only) recognized "Flying Saucer Photographer."

Roberts' role began in 1943 during his service in the Army Air Force. While on duty in a mountainous section of the Mexican border country, he and other enlisted men were dumbfounded to see a huge orange object circle below them in the valleys below. Militarily, the object violated the constant blackout imposed on the area, and its appearance caused quite a commotion in the camp. To Roberts, however, the strange light represented something else. Something he could only feel and not explain. Not until a lonely night in 1952 on a Skywatch tower would he become convinced that flying saucers might well represent visitations from other worlds.

On that strange night back in 1943, Roberts remembered the orange ball. This time, however, he had his camera handy, and when a saucer appeared over New York City he grabbed his camera and recorded the event. The picture appeared widely in newspapers, magazines, movie newsreels and on television. "Featurama," one of the top television programs of 1955, included the picture and an interview with Roberts. It is understandable that this particular program was the one most often repeated on television, by popular request, for several years.

The account of Roberts 1952 sighting, along with his photographs, represented one of the three UFO cases included in the Westinghouse Time Capsule recently buried at the conclusion of the New York World's Fair. It will be opened in the year 6939.

Roberts not only took pictures of flying saucers, but collected, preserved, and disseminated the work of others. Just as important and interesting as the saucers themselves are the personalities who investigated, wrote, and talked, and lectured about them. Roberts shot and collected hundreds of pictures of such people.

Photos from his vast collection have appeared in many books, notable ones include; Flying Saucers Have Landed, Flying Saucerama, From Outer Space to You, Flying Saucers and The Three Men, Flying Saucers Fact or Fiction, The Mystery of Other Worlds Revealed, and Gray Barker's Book of Saucers. His work has also appeared in publications and books in France, Japan, Germany and other Countries.

Roberts' work has appeared in most of the memorable UFO periodicals, such as, The Saucerian, Saucer News, and Ray Palmer's - Flying Saucers.

For several years he has been Photographic Consultant to Saucerian Publications and for a time, served as Photo Editor of Ray Palmer's magazine.

Working with Dominick C. Lucchesi, he published the first issue of NEXUS, an early saucer magazine which was later published by James W. Moseley, with Roberts functioning as Associate Editor.

He is Production Coordinator of the Bob Zanotti Show, a weekly radio program originating in the New York area, and has appeared many times on the Long John Show in New York.

Roberts has given his assistance to practically every major UFO researcher in the field. This he has done in a spirit of selfless devotion to the eventual solution to the flying saucer mystery.

He has not only recorded the images of flying saucers and the people connected with them, but has also recorded many of these personalities and events on tape. In connection with this aspect of his work, he has recorded nearly a quarter of a million feet of tape.

Although Roberts is quick to come to the aid of anybody needing photographic or taped information about flying saucers, he prefers to work with what he calls "the team," which consists of Dominick D. Lucchesi, Gray Barker, James Moseley, Jack Robinson, Dr. Frank E. Stranges, Mike Mann, and a few selected others.

His many years of research and investigation are amplified in a new UFO color Documentary full length film entitled "PHENOMENA 7.7." Producer Dr. Frank E. Stranges, chose the very best when he appointed Augie as Photographic Consultant.

Long after people of the future forget how to read the archaic language of the 20th Century, they will still look at August C. Roberts' photographs and be thrilled as we were with the funfolding drama of the mysterious flying saucers.

"Augie," as his friends call him, probably sums up this idea best when asked why he makes the physical and monetary sacrifices necessary to continue his work . . . he puts it this way:

"What is my real aim with my photos of today? It is so that the (children of tomorrow) can experience some of the same excitement that I did. I hope that they will be thrilled, frightened, mystified and challenged, as we were. Maybe they will catch onto the same dream that we dream: A UNIVERSE OF COMMUNICATION AND BROTHERHOOD -- an aim that the flying saucers may be trying to teach us today."

DO FLYING SAUCERS EXIST?
by
August C. Roberts

THE FLYING SAUCER MYSTERY IS A MASTERPIECE OF WELL ORGANIZED, - PLANNED CONFUSION. Little did I realize when Dominick C. Lucchesi uttered these words, that they were to haunt me for many years to come. For almost a quarter of a century of investigation and searching for the answer to this mystery, one thing has become crystal clear. There isn't one person on the face of this Planet who can step forward and PROVE to the masses that such things as so-called "Flying Saucers" . . . exist. For a score of years now, we have heard these words from sources of our Government, "Flying Saucers Do NOT exist . . . people only Believe they do - - -". These thoughts, and words similar to them, have been hammered at the American people for so long, that people by the thousands are becoming aware of the great lie that has been forced upon them. The tide is now gradually changing towards the opposite side of the coin.

Only a part of the answer to this mystery is known, and this part is made known only because the "life forms" in these "flying objects" want those of us on this planet to know of them. Every part of this globe we call Earth has been touched in some manner through the years; these objects have shown themselves to us. By today's standards, thousands upon thousands of men, women, and children from all walks of life have tried to prove these flying objects exist, using all the means at their disposal ---photographs, movies, television, radio, books, magazines, newspapers, as well as the spoken word. All this has been to no avail. The mystery is stilla mystery, and will remain a mystery until mankind himself is prepared to accept a number of concepts so fantastic, they will border on the fringe of insanity.

In this book you will see many photos. I do not intend to insult your intelligence by claiming that all of them are authentic pictures of so-called "flying saucers." Anyone with a fair knowledge of photography should be able, without too many difficulties, to pick out the possible real and what are the obvious fake pictures. All I have intended to do is present facts. If I were to start tearing apart all the photographs from a professional viewpoint, practically everyone connected with the photos would be up in arms, and war would be declared on Augie Roberts. Experts in every field have been known to make mistakes. Just because a picture might look like a fake, does not necessarily mean that it is. My own July 28th, 1952, Skywatch Tower Case photo over New York City, I must admit, doesn't really look like anything but a blurred light--not much to be sure by way of beautiful photography. My knowledge today can run rings around the knowledge I had then, plus my new cameras, new lenses, new films, new techniques, and the solid experience behind me. However, it doesn't alter the fact one iota that the object I saw and photographed years ago, was not what I claimed it was. How many times have I been judged wrong by someone in a corner of the world who did not believe my story, just as I did not believe theirs.

It was not too long ago when men believed that if a person went fifty miles an hour in an automobile, he would be crushed to death by the force of gravity. Before planes started to go through the sound barrier, the great minds and scientists of yesterday claimed that if a plane reached the speed of sound, the plane would crash into an invisible wall, killing everyone aboard.

In my book collection, there is one that tells of a famous movie director who said publicly during the silent movie era, "talking movies will only be a passing fancy." Not too many years ago, I myself was told by a "scientific mind" that it was completely impossible to make color television, or a video tape recorder. All of these men, I'm certain, were telling the truth as they knew it, but they were as wrong as wrong could be. In order to prevent strife from the many people expected to be reading this book, and examining the many photographs, the fairest thing to do, is to let the readers have the option to be both judge and jury, and in some cases if they choose, also executioner.

Many people around the world have written to me time and time again asking this question, "WHERE do you obtain your Pictures?" and, "HOW many do you have in your files ? " The first part is simple, the second to answer truthfully, would be difficult.

Hundreds of people have simply sent photos to me for publishing, for my files, and for evaluation. Others I have purchased, traded, copied, stolen, faked, and hunted for from every part of the world. Practically all of Howard Menger's photos are copied on film today-more than he has himself. Every state and area I have visited, my first thought has always been, what can I copy on film to add to my collection? To tell you the exact amount would mean that I would have to struggle thru all of the negatives in my files, counting them one by one. This would be both tedious and time consuming, so, the quickest way would be to give a rough guess. Not counting the larger and miniature sizes, colored slides, and movie film, a quick count adds up to more than five hundred rolls of film, the majority of which I have not yet printed. For the sake of simple addition, let me explain it like this. One hundred rolls of 120 size film with twelve frames on a roll. . ;two hundred rolls of 35mm full frame size, with thirty-six frames on a roll . . ; two hundred rolls of 35mm film, half frame size, with seventy-two frames on a roll. All are of so-called "flying saucers, and saucer connected events."

During the many years I have been working on this subject, I have purchased an undetermined number of boxes of photographic paper of all types. This has added up to thousands of photographs, of which very few were for sale to anyone. I am not in business to make money from this venture, nor do I wish to do so. There are quite a number of others around the country who have been filling this need. During the past years, I have given away pictures at my cost, to people of my choice. In return, almost all of these people have become good friends of mine. Many of them have become part of a network of investigators, each trying in his own way and resources, to prove to the world that such things as so-called "flying saucers" exist. For myself, my interest lies in getting all of the photos published that I possibly can, in as many hard-covered books that are available, within the span of time I have left. Books today, tell the history of the world in words and pictures, and speak not only to the readers of today, but also to the readers of our coming generations.

REMEMBER: "Only people of small character 'fear' large truths -- the Concepts of Today . . . will have their Champions of Tomorrow. "

Flying Saucers— Fantasy or Grim Fact?

A skeptical reporter investigated reports of flying saucers, and what he learned removed the doubts from his mind. A condensation of his chilling book, "Incident at Exeter," starts Sunday in Chicago's American.

BY PETER REICH
[Aviation Writer]

THE PHOTOGRAPHS accompanying this article may be some of the clearest ever made of U. F. O.s [unidentified flying objects]—IF they are real.

Dr. Frank E. Stranges, of Los Angeles, who has collected them, believes they are real. He says they "strongly indicate" the existence of spaceships from other worlds that have been visiting our planet.

DR. STRANGES

Where do the mysterious "craft" come from?

Dr. Stranges says he isn't sure. He thinks they might come from somewhere in our own solar system, or from some other planetary system many light years away.

If from our own solar system, they might be from Mars, Venus, or even the moon, he says.

But haven't our close-up photographs of the moon and Mars, and our instrument reconnaissance of Venus ruled out life on those bodies?

NOT SO, says Dr. Stranges. He contends that even on the moon, which he considers the least likely home of the U. F. O.s, there exists "the possibility, at least of intelligent life "beneath the surface."

The same applies to Mars, he says.

As for Venus, the fact that our Mariner II robot reported surface temperatures there of some 800 degrees Fahrenheit [close to the boiling point of lead and much too hot for life as we can imagine it] doesn't mean anything, he says. He thinks Mariner II may have been measuring the temperatures of a seething cloud layer surrounding Venus, not the Venusian surface itself.

DR. STRANGES agrees with other U. F. O. believers that "an international curtain of secrecy" has been lowered around the mysterious craft. Why?

"Two reasons. One, because many governments fear a panic would ensue, such as followed the Orson Welles 'Invasion from Mars' broadcast in 1938, and two, because many fear our international economy would be disrupted as a result."

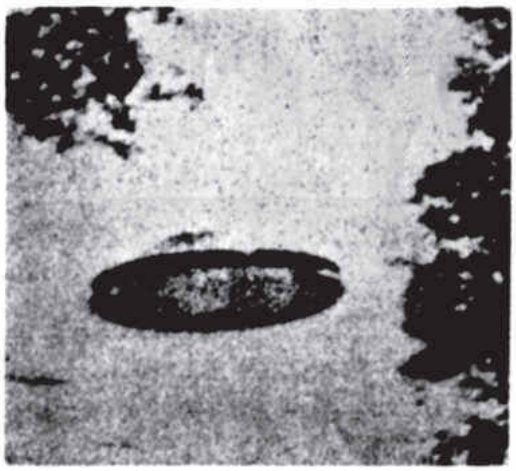
Dr. Stranges—the "doctor" title is from a Ph.D. and a divinity degree he holds—said he hopes the suggestion of Rep. Gerald Ford [R., Mich.] that Congressional hearings on U. F. O.s be held will be followed.

DR. STRANGES is in Chicago to show a motion pictur "Phenomena 7.7" in McCormick Place Saturday at 2:30 p. m and again at 8 p. m. The film, which deals with U. F. O.s refers to the approximate percentage of such sightings tha the air force has said could not be classified as "explainable."

At latest count the air force, which insists its Projec Blue Book U. F. O. investigations are not secret, says it ha checked out more than 10,250 sightings and found more tha 9,800 of them—a whopping 94 per cent!—to be quite norma objects.

And even the 650 "unexplained sightings" have given n indication that they are either a danger to us or are th product of an extraterrestrial civilization, the air force says

"SAUCER" apparently maneuvering into take-off position is subject of photo attributed to Cedric Allingham in Scotland.



SEEN FROM a different vantage point, this "saucer" purportedly is same one at top of page, this time in lateral view.

...I was born in New York City in 1931; traveled extensively, even as a child - attending many different schools; attended Princeton University, Became interested in flying saucers in 1948 upon hearing of the Mantell case. Began active saucer research in 1953 with a trip across the United States interviewing nearly all the "greats and near-greats" of UFO research of that time: Scully, Adamski, Ruppelt, Chop, Heard, Silas Newton, Jerrold Baker, Manon Darlaine, Max Miller, Bender, Barker, Keyhoe, etc. Organized the Saucer and Unexplained Celestial Research Society (S.A.U.C.E.R.S.) in 1954 and began publication of a saucer magazine called "Nexus," in 1955 changed the name to SAUCER NEWS. This is now the second oldest and largest saucer magazine in the world, with circulation currently slightly under 5,000, published quarterly at $2.00 for six issues.

The policy of SAUCER NEWS has reflected my own changing views. From about 1955-1960 I believed that the saucers, or most of them, were made by the U.S. and other Earth Governments, rather than being extraterrestrial. I have now changed my view and believe that they are probably extraterrestrial, although no final proof of this has ever been found, I do not believe the contactees, but I do tend to believe the "little men" stories, which are much more numerous and more authentic-sounding. The pages of SAUCER NEWS, from the first, however, have been open to everyone with a novel view or new data to present--be he contactee, noncontactee or anticontactee. Among our contributors have been Sanderson, Scully, Wilkins, Keyhoe. Desmond Leslie, Max Miller, and dozens of lesser-known researchers - notably Yonah ibn Aharon, an expert on ancient history; Dr. Leon Davidson; Richard E. Wallace; Peter Kor; James Randi (of New York's WOR night show); Tom Comella; John J. Robinson; August C. Roberts; Dominick Lucchesi; and others.

I believe that the solution to the flying saucer mystery will probably be found gradually during the next few years, as man explores the nearby planets - rather than by any landing here, or other such revelation. I believe the probability is that we will find intelligent life on Mars, and quite possibly.. the "little men" are from there.

I believe that saucer research can be hurt as much by the domination of the contactees who present a ludicrous aspect to the uninformed general public, as it can be by the domination of narrow-minded groups such as NICAP, which ask everyone to conform to their narrow version of "truth." I believe, in short, that all voices in Ufology should be heard, but none to the exclusion of the others.

Among my activities, other than the publishing of SAUCER NEWS, is sponsoring monthly saucer lectures in New York City since 1962; appearing on radio and television shows, i. e., many appearances on Long John's WOR show and Randi's current WOR show; also, WBZ radio and TV shows in Boston; WPEN in Philadelphia; and other stations in Cleveland, West Virginia, Richmond, etc.

In addition to saucer research, since 1954 I have been a treasure hunter and amateur archaeologist. Have traveled extensively abroad, especially in South America; lived in Peru for periods of several months at a time; published articles in Fate and Argosy about treasure hunting, and discussed same on radio and TV.

Hayden C. Hewes - Director
Interplanetary Intelligence of Unidentified Flying Objects

My interest in the Unidentified Flying Object Mystery began in 1957. In an effort to learn more of this strange subject, an organization was formed for the scientific investigation of all UFO reports.

Our organization is known as the Interplanetary Intelligence of Unidentified Flying Objects (IIOUFO), and we are presently enjoying a membership of some 5000 members both in the United States and 28 other countries. We are also backed by a qualified panel of prominent scientists.

By special authorization of the Pentagon, I was permitted to visit Wright-Patterson Field, Ohio. The purpose being, to examine and question Air Force UFO files.

Our organization led the investigations of the famous Tulsa, Oklahoma night color photograph that was obtained during the 1965 wave of UFO sightings over the Central part of the United States.

Our official publication, "Interplanetary Intelligence Reports," is published bimonthly and carries accounts of UFO sightings, photos and clippings.

The main purpose of IIOUFO is to add what information we can to help solve this, the strangest Mystery of our times. There is no question as to their existence; but the only questions remaining are, "Where are they from? " . . . and, "Why are they here?"

MIKE MANN

My first experience in the UFO field dates back to the BTV era (before Television), when Frank Edwards would finish his radio news commentaries with a flying saucer report. When the New York Saucer Information Bureau started its lecture bureau in New York City I became its first tape consultant. I have started and coordinated for many years the group called Parapsychology and Saucer Investigation (P.S.I.). Complimentary honorary memberships have been awarded to me by; Bureau of UFO Research and Analysis (BURA), Civilian Saucer Intelligence (CSI), Dan Fry's Group, and NICAP. I held editorships on "The Ufologer" when it was being printed at the United States Embassy in Switzerland, on the Journal of Corelative Philosophy (JCP), Gray Barker's publications and Jim Moseley's Saucer News. My articles have appeared in many of the field magazines such as Flying Saucers and Fate. I have been on flying saucer panels on both the Long John (Nebel) radio show, and the Amazing Randi radio show on WOR. I am currently the Photo-Editor of Jim Moseley's Saucer News and a number of other Saucer Publications. My main interest today, considering I own the largest private saucer photo collection, is providing authentic saucer photos on request to the general public.

Dear Dr. Stranges

The members and friends of the Oklahoma City New Age Center join me in congradulating you on the production and fine presentation of your UFO Color Film, "Phenomena 7.7" that was shown here on November 18th,19th and the 20th of this Month.

It is our opinion as well as that of the general public who saw the film, that it is, by far, the best motion picture today, covering the subject of Unidentified Flying Objects. The professional manner in which each interview was handled, along with the impressive incidents re-enacted thoroughly reflects the ability of the Producer and associates.

The Motion Picture Technical Corporation is to be highly commended for the re-production of the Kenneth Arnold sighting. The photo-section supplied by August C. Roberts was certainly 'out of this world'. With such a mass of truly accurate information, there is no question that "Phenomena 7.7" will top them all.

Further, your Radio and T.V. appearances caused quite a stir in Oklahoma that will be remembered for a long time. The reaction of the many business and professional people in the mass audience causes us to request a return engagement at your earliest convenience.

Again, our heartiest thanks for an outstanding and thought provoking Program.

Remaining, Sincerely,

Chas. O. Rhoades

Director, Karl L. UFO research in Poland was also stimulated by the German 'UFO Center,' and by the visits of a delegate from Warsaw who was able to bring over extensive research material given to him by the "Studiengemeinschaft," center in Wiesbaden.

The UFO Conference (1957) and the UFO Labor Conference (1958), the International UFO/IFO Congress in October 1960 in Wiesbaden, visited by over 1000 visitors from 14 different nations (among them Professor Oberth), - see documentary report by K.L. Veit, preceded by a press conference, attended by 22 representatives of distinguished daily papers, other press conferences at home and abroad, as well as radio and television transmissions, have spread enlightenment to hundreds of thousands of persons about the UFO phenomena.

In 1961, the leader of the German 'UFO Studiengemeinschaft' published the first standard reference book on UFO/IFO research, "Planetarians Are Visiting Our Earth."

Other UFO study communities exist in England, Austris, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, and Poland. Many foreign study groups consider the work done by German research the greatest in Europe.

Since 1956 more than 30 pamphlets and books on Ufology and foreign contactees have been translated from the American and translated in the German language. For this purpose, the Ventla-Verlag was founded and the UFO-Nachrichten is published. Until the end of 1966 more than 120 monthly copies of this periodical have come out; and 2500 reports on Ufology and connected subjects were published and read in many countries.

On May 22-23, 1963, the 5th International Congress was held with 380 people in attendance from eight countries. Two radio broadcasts were made which voiced the aims and purposes of the German UFO/IFO Study Group.

An International Congress was held in June, 1965 but was open only to invited members of the DUIST (from 12 countries).

Since the Summer of 1966 we received from UFO researcher and pioneer, Colman VonKeviczky, of the United Nations Secretariat, his memorandums on Secretary-General U Thant about the International Space Security Pact with articles and list of 135 documents, All this is published in our UFO-NACHRICHTEN, August through December 1966.

According to Dr. Frank E. Stranges, Director of the National Investigations Committee on UFOs in America, our organization, 'Ventla-Verlag,' is one of the most respected in the entire world.

IN MEMORY OF A PIONEER -- PROF. GEORGE ADAMSKI

George Adamski

By Desmond Leslie

Printed with permission from the
COSMIC BULLETIN
GEORGE ADAMSKI FOUNDATION

Of all the people in the flying saucer world, George Adamski stands alone as its most controversial character. Many others have claimed contacts and been treated with tolerance, belief or amused contempt, but George had only to open his mouth to bring down a storm of abuse, praise and wonderment.

Perhaps I came to know him as well as anybody. I stayed with him several times and discovered facets in his character seldom revealed in public. Underneath the talkative, colorful exterior lurked a very great human being. Some quirk in his nature often took pains to conceal this and present instead, as his public face, a far more shallow person than he really was. Who was he? Certainly no ordinary person.

Physically he was Polish with, I think a touch of Romany. Immensely strong, good looking and with burning black eyes. Spiritually he was more than one person. There was the George of public lec-tures — the one I liked least for he tried to say too much all at once. Then there was the relaxed, naughty George with a keen eye for a pretty face, and a pluckish delight in shocking the profaced and prudes.

Then there was another George, beautifully spoken, wise, kind, and deeply aware of the importance of his task. Through this George, I several times glimpsed the presence of a Master, and I was always sorry when the curtain came down again and the worldly mask obscured him.

I often wondered why he should have been singled out as the prime prophet of saucery. He believed that he had reincarnated from another planet through karmic reasons to give his teachings, and I find that idea quite acceptable. He believed that others, greater in the world's esteem, had also been contacted and given the same mission, but that for various personal reasons had refused or failed. He saw himself as the 'lame the halt and the blind' who were called to the King's feast after the chosen guests had made excuses not to come. He felt he was a broken reed, but alas the only reed willing to try and play their tune. So with all his might, with his inability to write and speak good English, and the inate difficulties of being the character that he was, he set out undaunted by criticism or abuse to give the message as best he saw it.

This to me seems most probable, even a wise move on the part of the Brothers. To choose a great and respected person would be too easy for us to accept, or too difficult for that person who might be demoted and declared mad. Again, in George Adamski were all the virtues and failings of this planet, slightly over-lifesized. So that one could recognize an aspect of oneself in him and judge from a more personal basis.

To assess the validity of his claims is still difficult. I am personally completely satisfied that his photos and early contacts are completely authentic and will in time be proven by later events. Some of his claims take a lot of swallowing. But just when you had decided to write him off as a babbler, something turns up to substantiate them. For instance, when I first visited him in 1954 he spoke of the Van Allen Belts, and the 'Fireflies in space' as later seen by the cosmonauts. Neither of these were known at the time. The last time I saw him he calmly announced 'I saw Pope John yesterday.' Well, as it happened I was able to get independent confirmation that this was true. John gave him a beautiful gold medallion effigy of himself which as far as I know has never yet been released and is only given to the most special people. George claimed to have given John a sealed package from the Brothers with advice for the conduct of the Council. Certainly the way the Church has behaved since then is very much in line with the Brother's policies.

That was the maddening thing about George. Just as you thought you had at last caught him in a whopper, something would turn up to substantiate his claim.

I remember two occassions on successive nights at Palomar when I saw a tiny golden remote control disk leave rapidly. On the second occassion we were talking on his patio just after dark when I got a tremendous feeling of being watched. I turned around just in time to see a tiny golden disk not more than fifty feet away, as it shot upward in a trail of light. George laughed, and I said: "Thank God our conversation has been clean the last twenty minutes."

He refused to ask me on a 'contact' with him and at the time it peeved me greatly. But I realized later that I was in no fit spiritual state for such an experience and had I been taken aboard a saucer I doubt if I'd have been a very successful prophet afterwards for my ego is highly susceptible to spiritual aggrandisement. Many who have had genuine contacts have gone very odd, forming new religions and in fact doing everything the Brothers desire least. I doubt I would have been any exception.

One thing I liked about George was his utter down-to-earthiness. I don't think he ever suffered from spiritual pride — from abuse, from strain, from many other things yes, but despite the warring human factions which grew up among his followers, there was always a great modesty and sense of his own unimportance in a scheme of such vastness and splendor.

I don't suppose he will mind me telling this, now that he has cast off the fine old body, but he once showed me the most extraordinary birthmark. His navel was not like a human navel at all. It was a huge solar disk with deeply cut rays extending out about six inches all around it, from waist to groin. What this signifies I have no idea — unless it is truly the sign of a 'Child of the Sun.'

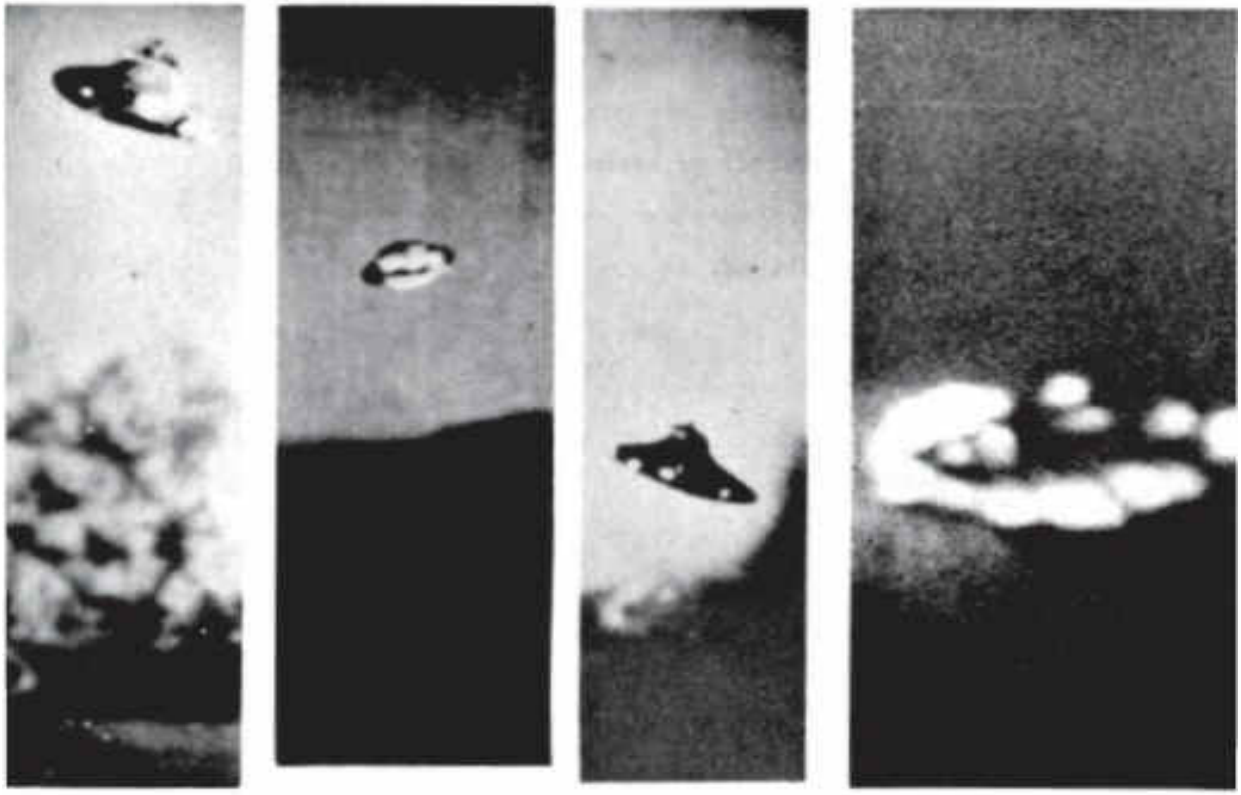
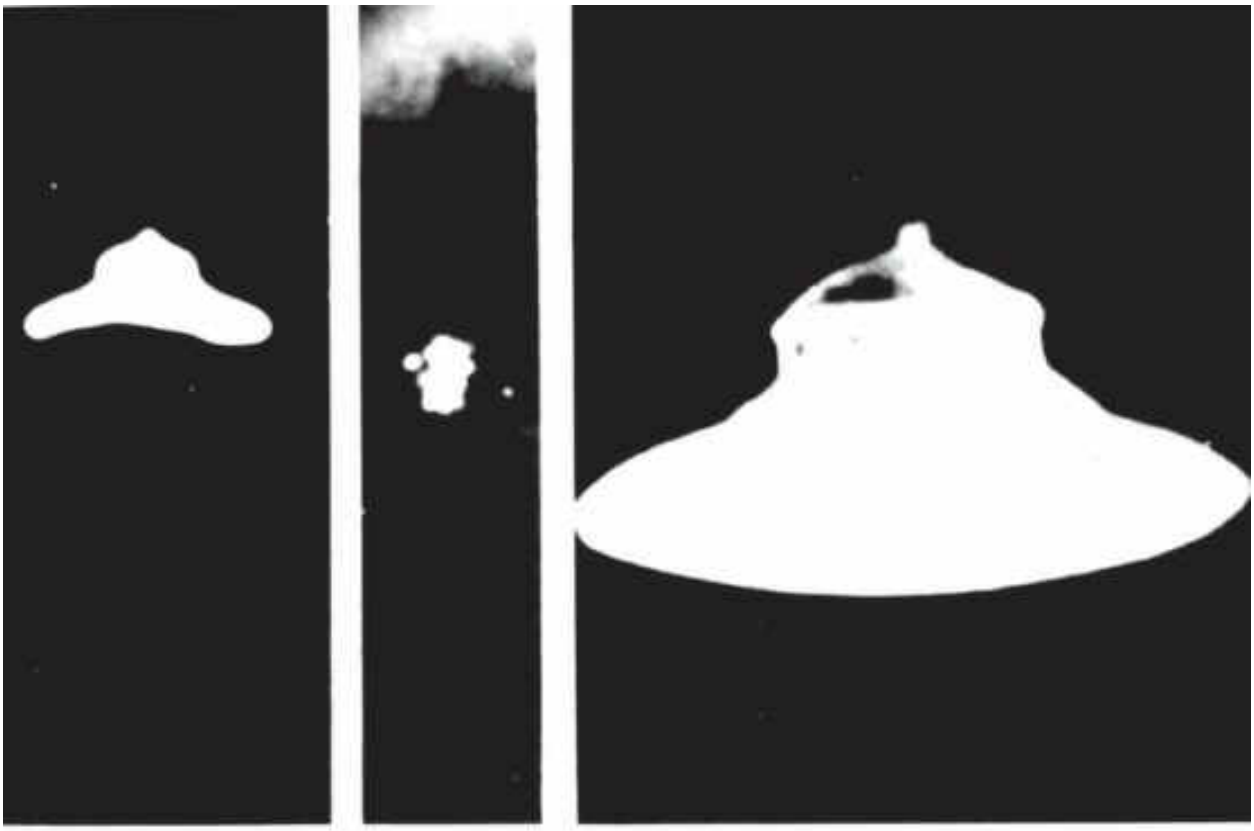
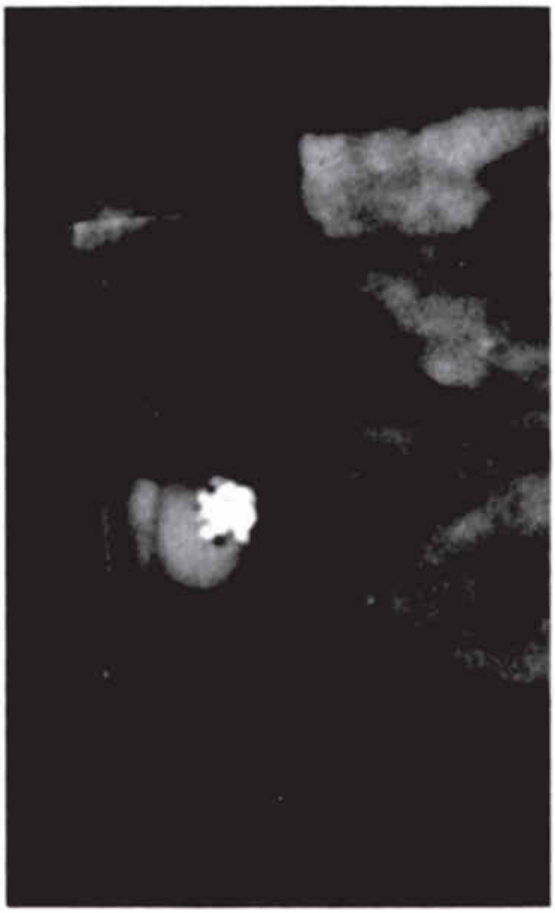
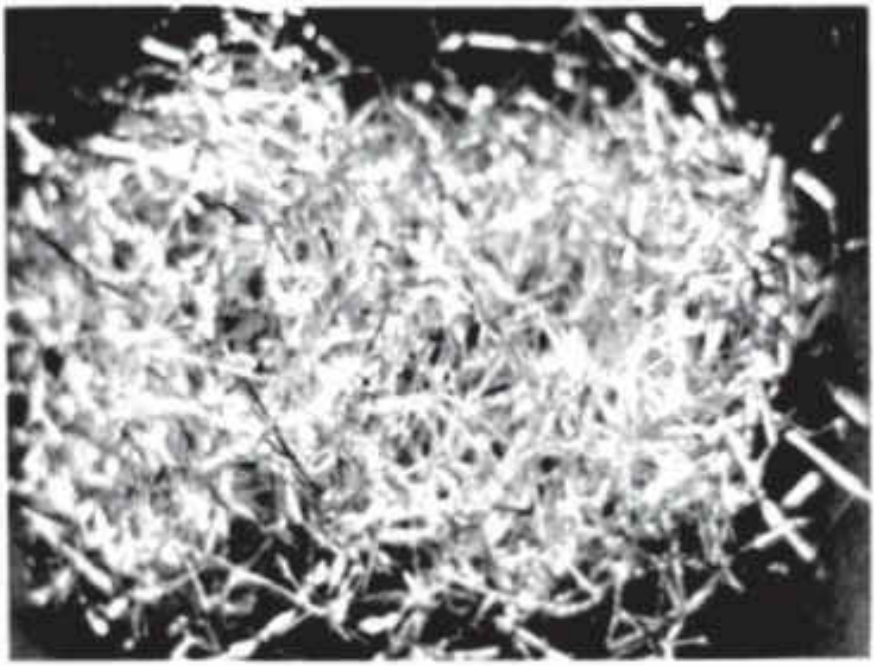
21 UFO Coming in for a Landing

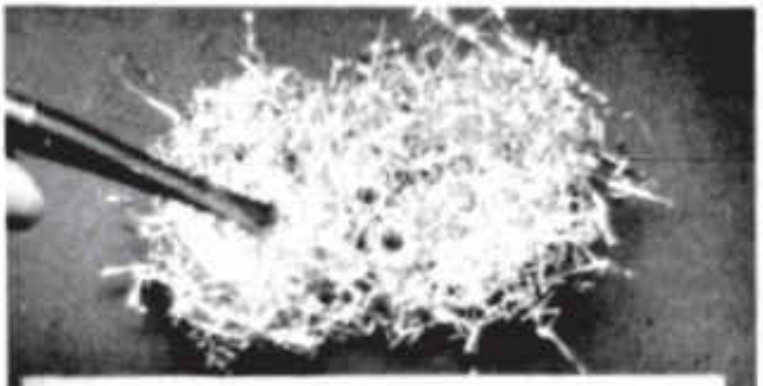




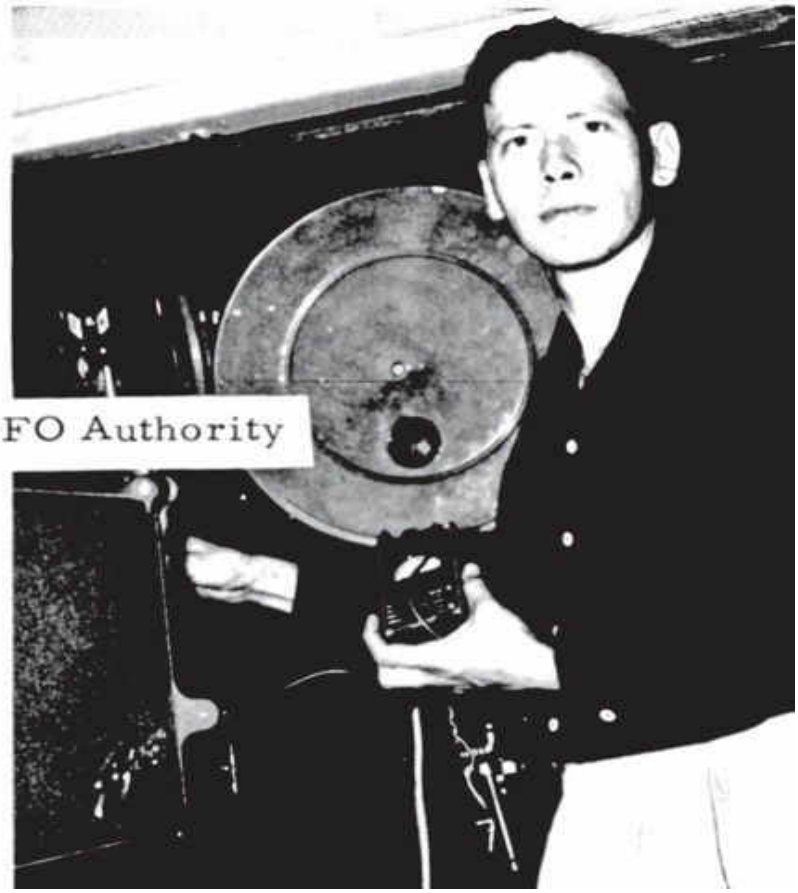


Spaceman Photographed by Howard Menger





FOUND SCATTERED OVER LARGE AREA, IN NEWLY PLOWED FIELD. NO FOOT PRINTS, OR OTHER EVIDENCE THAT IT CAME FROM ANY SOURCE OTHER THAN THE SKY



Gray Barker, UFO Authority

GRAY BARKER

Gray Barker is one of the earliest and best known UFO researchers. His interest in Flying Saucers started in September 1952, when an unidentified flying object landed near his farm at Flatwoods, West Virginia. Seven of his neighbors reported seeing a robot or "monster" get out of it. Immediately he wrote up the incident for FATE magazine and began receiving heavy correspondence about it.

Unable to answer all of the letters he created a small publication titled THE SAUCERIAN. Circulation grew and soon he had more than 2000 subscribers. The publication expanded to many pages, and, along with two or three other such publications whose exact genesis cannot be established, became one of the very first of its kind.

In 1956 Barker wrote the best selling UFO book, "They Knew Too Much About Flying Saucers," which is presently out of print. It told how many investigators of the flying saucer phenomena had been silenced because of certain information they possessed.

Barker then became a publisher and put out "From Outer Space to You," written by Howard Menger who is one of the best-known "contactees" (humans who contact space people).

Other books published by his firm have included: "Flying Saucers and the Three Men," "Flying Saucers in the Bible," "UFO Warning," "Flying Saucers and the Father's Plan," and the "Book of George Adamski." Of late, he has published "Gray Barker's Book of Saucers, which contains many saucer sightings and theories about their origin.

In 1962 THE SAUCERIAN combined with James Moseley's SAUCER NEWS and Barker became an associate editor.

He has many varied interests and business endeavors but takes time out to lecture, illustrating his talks with color slides and audiovisual devices. He operates a theatrical film booking-buying agency, distributes public relations films to theatres, and is a representative for a large West Virginia audiovisual school supply firm. A frequent guest on the Long John Nebel radio show in New York, Mr. Barker has also appeared extensively on other radio and television shows.

Although he has actively investigated flying saucers since 1952, Barker admits he has arrived at no definite conclusions as to their origin and purpose here on Earth.

"Since we apparently cannot get any hardware that proves anything definitely, I have to lean toward the '4-d' or etheric theory," Barker declares. "Then there is the inner earth theory which is pretty good, since saucers have long been known to travel extensively between the poles."

Mr. Barker still has an open mind on the subject, and is still trying to find a solution which will satisfy him.

"I don't think the Air Force is holding back all the information that NICAP* says they are," Barker adds. "They probably know a great deal, but not a lot more than we civilian researchers. It's such a complex subject. . . I don't think they've found out any final answers either."

Hunt for flying saucers costs U.S. $200 million

Staff Writer

The pursuit, study and investigation of those Illustrative Unidentified Flying Objects—more commonly known as flying saucers—has cost the United States government an estimated $200 million to date, The Star-Ledger learned yesterday.

Most of this money has been spent at the Air Force, the branch of the government directly involved, although the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Civil Aeronautics Administration and Central Intelligence Agency also have figured in running up the total.

Hartshorne UFO Described

By KERRY LIESCH

On July 18, 1966, after hearing reports of repeated UFO sightings in the Hartshorne, Okla., area, the staff of the Oklahoma UFO Research association made an investigation into these sightings.

While our entire investigation lasted for five days and nights, this story is concerned mainly with the events leading up to the taking of a picture of a UFO.

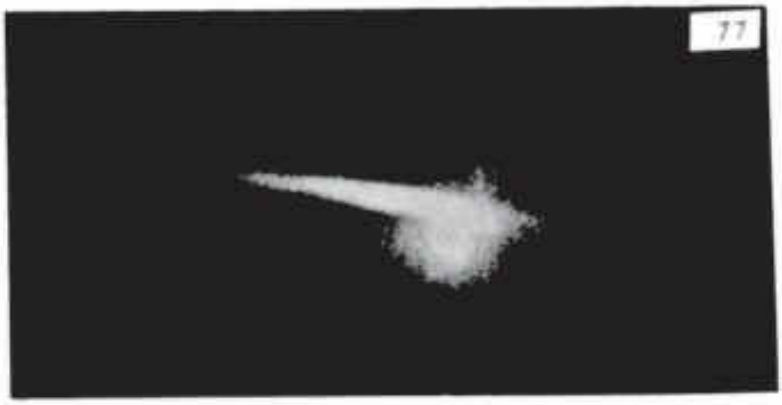
We were watching for UFO on the night of July 18, in a vacant lot on the east side of town. We had not seen anything very spectacular that particular night until from the southeast we noticed an object moving rapidly into the northwest. Quickly I tilted my camera, which was attached to a tripod, so that it would catch the object.

The object was not high in the sky but was higher than most planes usually fly. It was flashing a brilliant silver colored light, which made it look somewhat like a long slender rod lit up at regular intervals.

I adjusted my camera to time exposure and snapped a six-second time shot of the object.

By the time I had wound the film, the object had gone almost out of sight. This object did not keep our attention for very long, because shortly after it passed we saw a huge cigar shaped object flying low over a group of trees not far away.

We obtained a photograph of this cigar shaped object also, but it turned out dim and indistinct. The time of the photograph was approximately 9:45 p.m. and the second object came in low over the trees at 10 p.m. The cigar craft was illuminated by a yellow light at either end of it.



Kerry Liesch reportedly took this photograph of a UFO while investigating sightings during the Hartshorne outbreak last summer.

The object shown in the photograph above is believed to be somewhat disc-shaped, being thick in the middle and tapered at each end.

The strange ball of light underneath the object is largely a mystery to us, but I believe that it must be something that is emerging from the object itself, perhaps a smaller, remote controlled object of some kind.

Stars are visible in the background as well as behind the trail left on the film as the object flew across the sky. Through our own analysis of the photograph we conclude that it is somewhat disc-shaped and perhaps emitting some type of remote controlled device from the underside of the object.

It must be remembered that the photo was taken at an almost 45 degree angle and the photograph could be a bottom angle view of the object. Anyone wishing to discuss the photograph or any other matter of UFO's may reach me at the Headquarters of The Oklahoma UFO Research Association, 3539 N. W. 53, Oklahoma City (WI 2-7042).

Dear Frank:

Goodness knows how many times I have mentally started this letter. Fact is if my E.S.P. is in tune you should have received by now at least two dozen excuses. The only one that comes to mind right now is.....????... son-of-a-gun....plum forgot that one too!

Frank I can't tell you how much fun and information my listeners have gleamed from your appearences on "Capps Corner". It has been over four months since you were last here and a week doesn't go by that someone doesn't call for your address or make mention of something we talked about concerning U.F.O's. By the way I haven't seen one yet....BUT IM STILL LOOKING!!

"Capps Corner" welcomes you anytime you find yourself within our signal. Fact is the listeners will have me in irons if you don't make it back.

Most Sincerely

McCormack Not Satisfied That UFOs All 'Explained'

The Union's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON -- House Majority Leader John W. McCormack says he feels the Air Force has not been completely frank with the public regarding the Unidentified Flying Objects (UFOs).

Believes Some Real

Rep. McCormack has made it plain he believes that some of these strange objects constitute something real, something that can't be explained away as familiar objects mistakenly identified.

He suggests the holding of House hearings on UFOs.

The Air Force has publicly maintained that all the sightings are explainable as familiar objects, such as stars, meteors, balloons and airplanes, that have been mistaken for something extraordinary.

"I feel that the Air Force has not been giving out all the information it has on the Unidentified Flying Objects," the Massachusetts congressman commented.

Can't Pinpoint Source

"These UFOs," said McCormack, speaking of the minority of sightings that can't satisfactorily be explained away, "must be in a very high state of development and of perfection. Whether they come from some other planet we don't know. We can't say they come from another planet till we find life on another planet. On the evidence we have, you can't pinpoint their source.

"Many expert witnesses have seen these objects," he continued. "You can't disregard so many unimpeachable sources. Among the experts who insist that some of these objects constitute something real, something unknown, are pilots, other persons with special skills in this area, persons of great responsibility, rational - minded witnesses.

"This is not all imagination. You can't rule out all these sightings as imagination producing a mistake in identity," he asserted.

The Bay State Democrat confirmed that some UFOs have been seen visually and on radar at the same moment and at the same spot.

"You can't put it down to atmospheric phenomena," he remarked tersely.

Distortion in Radar

The Air Force has maintained generally that radar sightings have been due to an atmospheric phenomenon, the so-called temperature inversion, which involves a layer of warm air over a cold layer, resulting in bending and distorting the radar return

Astronomer Says Ordinary Meteors Often Mistaken For Flying Saucers

WASHINGTON (NANA)—Shooting stars that look like balls of green fire now are quite common phenomena.

He has received hundreds of reports on them in the last 12 months. Dr. C. C. Wylie of Iowa State University has just reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Canadian astronomers also have reported a considerable number. The objects have been mistaken for Space ships from some other planet and their green color attributed to burning copper in the hulls of such craft caused by friction after striking the Earth's atmosphere.

But they are just ordinary meteors, Dr. Wylie says, although the reason for the green color is not entirely clear. From an examination of eight-year-old reports he concludes they were just as frequent that long ago as now.

The reports come to him with those of "flying saucers." Dr. Wylie says, and the latter are no mystery to him. He himself has seen groups of them cavorting around the skies.

"The typical saucer," Dr. Wylie reports, "is seen often on clear days and has the appearance of a round or oval disk of bright aluminum. Use of the word 'saucer' for any other strange light is rare.

"In the Summer of 1948 I saw a group of conspicuous saucer-like objects but verified that these were produced by metal planes when driving toward them. Another check which I have made is to call an airport when a 'saucer' is seen and verify that a plane is maneuvering in that area. A few reported to me have been produced by birds. The glistening white breast of a hawk seen from a critical angle with the sun may shine like a 'saucer' when flying, or like a tin can when the bird is sitting on a post.

"It should be noted that a plane may be close enough to be seen and heard as a plane and yet become a 'saucer' with a sudden change in direction of travel. A hawk may be easily recognized with the naked eye and suddenly become a saucer when it changes the direction of its flight."

Venus Flying Saucer Gave Him a Lift

So Says Jerseyite on Long John's Radio Program, Which Is for Off-Beat Connoisseurs

By BEN GROSS

There's a fellow out in Highbridge, N. J., who says he has regular contacts with men from Venus. They land in his apple orchard via flying saucers. But that's not all. By means of some mystic mumbo-jumbo, known as teleportation, he vows he can transport his body or any object from one place to another. Air lines, railroads and bus companies, please take notice!

You think I'm making this up? Or that I've been imbibing too much of a potent distillation?

No such thing. I could pass the drunk test in traffic court anytime. The truth is I've been listening these many nights to "The Party Line," conducted by Long John over WOR Radio, seven times a week, from 1 to 4:30 A.M. And I've tuned in so assiduously that no matter how fantastic a story you might tell me, I'm eager to listen.

For nothing that one might hear anywhere else on the radio dilettante or the television channels can quite equal in sheer fantasy some of the stuff that goes out under the masterstroke of Long John Nebel, the chief of this imaginative broadcaster.

Doesn't 'Buy' It

Not that Long John, as he'll emphatically tell you, "buys" all of these tales. But he's a hospitable fellow with an open mind and a range of interests that is, to say the least, eclectic. Therefore, since his show comes on the air August 17, 1960, it's become the talk of night owls not only in New York but in the 15 states reached by the signals of WOR.

For on this program there have appeared believers in flying saucers, spiritualism, reincarnation, telepathy, astrology, teleportation, authorities on cancer and fluoridation, "mind readers," hypnotists, escape artists, science fiction writers and exposers of card sharks and other crooked gamblers. Also cynics and plain doubters of psychic phenomena who engage in hot arguments with those who are truly convinced.

Both proponents and opponents engage in panel discussions. These become merry donnybrooks — vocal ventilations of opinion, for consciousness of the off beat.

Carnival Pitchman

So to satisfy my — and your — curiosity regarding Long John, I shared a luncheon steak dinner with him at the Pen and Pencil.

John is a 6-foot-four 170-pounder, with smiling blue eyes and stew-can brown hair. A former "mind reader," carnival and street corner pitchman, band leader, "super-salesman," and manager of the world's largest photographic supply store, he glows with a boyish enthusiasm. His youthful zest causes one to doubt the accuracy of his birth certificate as the former does not say he was born in the early days. John [illegible]

"Which topic discussed on your show has drawn the most mail?" I asked.

"Flying saucers," said Long John. "The majority of the 50,000 letters we've received are concerned with these Unidentified Flying Objects. Other big mail drawers are teleportation (the transportation of a material object via mental or spiritual means through time and space), cancer, and fluoridation."

Saucer from Venus

"What is the story told on your program which you regard as the most interesting?"

"That of Howard Menger, a sign painter, of Highbridge, N.J." said John.

"Tell me about it."

"Well, Howard is an ingenuous and average appearing person as you'd want to meet. He seems to be utterly honest and sincere. He lives in his small home and, according to him, within recent months flying saucers from the planet Venus have landed in his apple orchard three times.

Spotter, Others Glimpse Sight Over Hudson; AF To Study Photographs

Photographs of a ball of orange light, possibly a flying saucer, have been turned over to the Air Force by August Roberts of 442 Ogden Avenue, Jersey City, who took the pictures last night while on duty as a spotter in the observation tower on the Sixth Precinct police building, Jersey City.

Roberts and his companions, George Conger and James Leyden, both of Jersey City, glimpsed the mysterious light shortly after midnight. They judged that it was stationed about the Hudson River and that it was moving slightly upward.

The three immediately checked with the Air Defense Filter Station in White Plains, N. Y., and were informed that no aircraft was in the area at the time.

Roberts took three photographs before the light blinked and disappeared.

HAWTHORNE — Things have been quiet at B[illegible]n's Quarry the last couple nights, much to the disappointment of UFO seekers.

The unidentified flying object [illegible] from the quarry last Thursday, Friday and Monday nights seems to have faded away.

The only explanation that has been offered thus far concerning the UFO has come from Oradell, where police received a letter signed "The Bergenfield Pranksters".

The letter said the object is a model plane covered with aluminum foil and kept aloft with helium balloons.

A spokesman at Mc Guire Air Force Base said this morning that all persons who saw the ob[illegible] will be sent questionnaires concerning their observations.

The questionnaires will be forwarded to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, the central collecting agency for UFO reports.

It's not a bird, it could be a plane, but what it is no one seems to know.

For the second time in the past 72 hours area astronomers and weather officials are pouring to their charts to try and identify a nigh sky visitor to the area.

It all began early Tuesday when loca officials were besieged with telephone calls reporting a bright light flashing in the sky.

With visions of saucers flying in their skies, residents wildly speculated over the possibility of a visit from Mars.

The visions were broken today by weather officials who positively identified the flash in the sky Tuesday as the third stage [illegible] section of the 57 ton Titan satellite launched from Cape Canaveral.

However, another object has not been identified. A rash of calls Wednesday and Thursday told of "two searchlights" hovering over a Hawthorne quarry.

Whatever it was, it turned away and left the area only to return again last night.

One report has the "flying monster" adorned with two huge rotating searchlights, one revolving faster than the other.

The only advice from weather officials today was very vague.

It's not a satellite, said one, but it could be an airplane or even more likely a blimp. The latter would explain the revolving lights and the hovering action.

Another possibility is that Hawthorne is a turning point for Newark Airport and what residents saw was a plane turning at the Hawthorne beacon point to make a landing in Newark.

At this point however one guess is as good as another.

The things you see — or seem to see — in the sky are not necessarily figments of the imagination, nor do they mean you have to get glasses, or change the ones you are wearing.

After months of research by The ENQUIRER, these facts are established:

1. Fifteen percent of the Unidentified Flying Objects going at supernatural speed in the heavens are definitely visitors from outer space, motivated by power of some sort.

2. Their existence has been admitted, and hushed up, by the government of the United States and its numerous agencies. These include Congress, the armed forces and the Pentagon, headquarters of the top brass in Washington D.C.

The things you read about here are not dreamed up by a reporter with so much space to fill. The statements, and the questions, are posed by men who have flown the skies and have reputations they would not dare to risk by

Can the Camera See What the Eye Does Not?

ON THE AFTERNOON of August 15, 1962, Mr. L. A. Peebler, of Modesto, Calif., was taking pictures of Old Faithful geyser in Yellowstone National Park. He was using a Polaroid camera which he has used many times before and since and which develops photographs immediately.

The first photograph, on the left above, was taken from a standing position. Obviously the camera saw what Mr. Peebler's eyes could not as he reports that the mysterious circle which appears in this picture was not visible to his eye.

The second photograph, on the right above, was taken from the very same spot but from a kneeling position, just a few seconds after the first photograph was snapped. The same polaroid camera was used and the second picture was taken while the first was being developed. It shows nothing unusual.

Mr. Peebler writes that many other persons were nearby, also taking pictures. He suggests it is possible that some of the other photographs taken at the time also showed this curious manifestation. It would be interesing if some of these photographers would come forward.

Dear Frank:

I want you to know how much the Parapsychology Club of San Jose State College appreciated your showing Phenomena 7.7 to the city and college community. Well over a thousand people attended and most found the film very stimulating. When one considers the difficulty of even attempting to have moving films of UFOs and the rather negative attitude of most of the public to UFOs, I think your film was a remarkable production. There were some who felt more UFOs should have been shown and less interviews with individuals who reputedly had seen UFOs should have been held; but considering the magnitude of what was attempted and the importance in the scientific world of many who were interviewed, I believe these criticisms were minor.

The film certainly got many people thinking in a different vein, was intellectually stimulating, and even though the subject matter was highly controversial it was handled in good taste and with an attempt at scientific accuracy. Since the Parapsychology Club attempts to examine all phenomena which is not readily explainable through the known sciences, we felt this film was very important to our total program.

The most important and interesting part of the program, as far as I am concerned and I believe the audience as a whole, was your talk that preceded the showing of the film. You have an excellent platform manner and are obviously very well versed in the field of the Phenomena of UFOs. Your national contacts with scientists, top government officials, and UFO 'concerned' invididuals brought great reality and interest to what you had to say. I, personally, felt that your talk was the best verbal presentation I have heard concerning UFOs.

I surely do appreciate hearing from you and knowing you. My very best to you and for the future of your work.

Jim Mooney, New York Daily News photographer and three Suffolk County policemen say — "the thing." It glowed and hovered for a while, then darted off quickly, rose in the sky south of Patchoque, Long Island, gave off a pulsating light, then changed color from red to white to green.

The three officers reported, "It was shaped like a sausage and appeared to hover in the Southwest, somewhere over the Atlantic."

After rushing to meet with the patrolmen, Mr. Mooney declared, "The erratic behavior of the UFO does not fit the pattern of any known object."

To photograph this UFO, Mr. Mooney used a Pentax camera with a tri-X 35mm film with an F 300mm Tailanar lens, set at f 5. 6 with an exposure of 1/2 second.

Newspapers, wire services and television stations as far away as Toronto asked Mr. Mooney for a look at the photographs - all in black and white. But, as Mr. Mooney stated, "If we had color film, we could have reproduced the reds and greens."

On October 7, 1966, the United States Government granted $300, 000 to the University of Colorado for a study project whereby scientists "down here" will attempt to find out what is going on — "up there."

Many people hope that sometime before all of the taxpayers $300, 000 has been used, an at-temp will be made to interview men and women who have claimed contact with those from other planets and outer space. If these interviews are conducted in a fair and open hearing, perhaps a solution to the mystery and an answer to our problems will come — . . . more easily.

A New Documentary

"Phenomena 7.7," a 90-minute color documentary film reporting highlights of more than 20 years of UFO (unidentified flying objects) investigations, will be presented at the Lindy Opera House Aug. 12-13.

Produced by Dr. Frank Stranges, director of the National Investigations Committee on UFO's, the film includes many scenes of flying objects taken by military experts which have not yet been identified by the military.

The controversial film, which was made with many of the leading experts in the field, including Dr. Werner Von Braun, lending their assistance, will be shown at 8 p.m. on both nights plus a 2 p.m. matinee on Saturday.

BERNICE

Special Report on "Phenomena 7.7"
by
Bernice C. Raab

The subject of UFOs (Unidentified Flying Objects) has for many years been the object of heated controversy. Each new sighting appears to rekindle the controversy without shedding too much further light on the question relating to the actual existence of UFOs.

In an effort to throw additional light on that question, Dr. Frank E. Stranges, Director of the National Investigations Committee on UFOs, undertook an extensive study of the UFO mystery in mid-1945. In an effort to minimize the ridicule that was inevitable, Dr. Stranges picked a blue ribbon staff of investigators to assist him. These include Lt. Col. James MacNamara, U.S. Army (ret); Chan Thomas, scientist and cataclysmic geology expert; George Todt, staff writer for the Hearst newspapers; Bill Wolff and Fred Anderson, Kaleidoscope award winners and CBS newscasters; Sydney Omarr, Columnist and newsman; Capt. Merle S. Gould (ret), U.S.Air Force cameraman; Mario Tosi, cinematographer from Rome; Director Phil Ford, and many others.

The highlights of this impressive study have been incorporated into a fast-moving documentary entitled "Phenomena 7.7." The color motion picture takes you to the actual site of UFO landings. You will hear the words from eye-witnesses attesting to the facts relating to their tremendous experiences. Others you will meet range from housewives to Government officials . . . from clergymen to scientists.

You will see actual proported UFO films taken of Unidentified Flying Objects; some of which were only recently cleared for viewing in "Phenomena 7.7."

Special courtesy is extended to the United States Air Force for their cooperation.

Bernice C. (Raab) Stranges

It is very difficult to produce such an undertaking of a product like "Phenomena 7.7" without the capable assistance of coworkers whose dedication goes above and beyond the normal workday.

Such high qualities were amply displayed by Bernice Stranges. Her devotion both to Dr. Stranges as well as to the project are reflected in the accuracy of the information contained therein.

Her training at Eastern Bible College along with her experiences on country-wide tours with her husband have equipped her to handle with great dispatch, her varied and constantly demanding roles as wife, secretary, bookkeeper, accountant and research consultant on "Phenomena 7.7".

The many 'after hours' consultations, story line reviews, additional planning, intricate research and the host of other 'extras' were beautifully handled by Mrs. Stranges.

Her expert manner in handling people is coveted by many of those in the 'trade' who admire her greatly for her tact, pleasant consideration, and respect for others.

In brief, she does many things and does them all well . . .including, the art of being a wonderful person.

DR. FRANK STRANGES

The "Phenomena 7.7" Story
by
Frank E. Stranges, Ph.D

For many years, since 1945 to be specific, my interest in UFOs has increased. During our travels, we have been in direct contact with men, women, and children who are literally fascinated with any study dealing with the 'unknown.'

The information that I have gathered on Unidentified Flying Objects, in my way of thinking, must reach the masses. Sincere investigation and intensive research in any given field is absolutely useless, unless such information is properly disseminated.

The many means of communication that have been utilized in times past, include radio, newspaper, television, books, pamphlets, magazines, as well as the spoken word.

However, we are living in a generation where the population is continuously on the move. Therefore, following the example of those who have already gone before us, we learn that in order to reach the masses, something powerful must be instituted to accomplish our task.

Adhering to the advice of the old Chinese sage, we agree that - "One picture is worth more than 1000 words."

Therefore, the advent of the Motion Picture! In the opinion of thousands of New Age thinkers, the media of motion pictures accompanied by the spoken word, will help us achieve our aim and purpose.

Thus, "Phenomena 7.7" is presently being used as an instrument of information. Produced in a serious vein, the films' purpose is to present all sides of the Controversial Flying Saucer Mystery. We cannot agree with certain so-called . . . UFO organizations, that only certain individuals should rate a hearing on the UFO subject. Therefore, despite their ranting and raving about the Film, we want to assure them that "Phenomena 7.7," even though produced without either their advice or consent, will accomplish not the glorification of one man or organization, but rather the full revelation of all components of the UFO story.

Yes, we agree that it is very easy to sit back and perfect the art of character assination, but then again, it is quite another thing to 'produce' for the UFO cause in the world today.

In conclusion, if the reader is interested in an honest UFO color Documentary, by all means, do not miss seeing "Phenomena 7.7" when it comes to your City. The 'Truth' will speak for itself.

MERLE S. GOULD

With Phenomena 7.7, Merle Gould celebrates his ninth film production as co-producer/director.

His eight metaphysical movies are the result of over twenty years of psychic research. His study and comprehension of such subjects as hypnosis, extrasensory perception and the various New Age Religions and philosophies have equipped him for his work as editor of the New Age World and founder of New Age Centers which feature metaphysical lectures, films and demonstrations.

The New Age World is a monthly, nonsectarian magazine with worldwide distribution. It reports news and events related to psychic phenomena, metaphysics and allied subjects.

Mr. Gould enlisted in the U.S. Air Force in 1942 as a private and remained on active duty until 1955, emerging as a captain. He flew 39 combat missions in the South Pacific during World War II.

The war and world travels convinced him that there is a great deal more to life than the physical. His personal contact with the major psychic personalities of our time has reinforced that conviction. His unique films manifest that conviction.

Mr. Gould lives with his wife and four children in Hollywood, California.

CARL ANDERSON

An electrician at the Long Beach Naval Yard, Carl Anderson enjoys relating an incident that took place while he was a boy in Sunday School in Maine. He shocked his teacher by stating that he didn't believe that angels had wings like birds. He felt that they were people from some other world who traveled here in some sort of ship.

Several decades later, Carl, his wife and four children, were camping in the Great Mojave Desert when a space ship landed a few yards distant and remained for approximately 15 minutes before leaving.

Later in that summer of 1954, a man who told Carl that he was on board that craft, came to visit Carl at him home in Fullerton, California. The man called himself Kumar and stated he was from Massai (Mars). After levitating and performing other extraordinary feats, he vanished.

In February, 1960, after several visits from Kumar, Carl boarded a space craft and was given information concerning the propulsion of the craft. He was instructed to take this information to Dr. Herman Oberth in Germany.

For three days Carl discussed his experience with Oberth - a renown mathematician and rocket expert - and several other professors from Heidelberg University.

Contacts with Kumar continued. The last occurred on the desert on the night of May 4, 1963, during which time Carl was given information concerning earthquakes along the San Andreus fault.

GABRIEL GREEN

Gabriel Green was born in Whittier, California, on November 11, 1924. After three years in the U S. Navy during World War II, he attended Wood bury Business College, The Art Center School ana Los Angeles City College..

In 1956 he organized the Los Angeles Interplanetary Study Groups. In 1959 he founded and became president of Amalgamated Flying Saucers Clubs of America, Inc., a non-profit organization dedicated to the physical, spiritual and economic emancipation of man, conducting research and investigation into the subject of flying saucers, life on other advanced planets and interplanetary travel and communication.

AFSCA has members in all the states of America and in 22 foreign countries, Its international headquarters is located at 2004 N. Hoover Street. Los Angeles, Calif. 90027.

AFSCA's official journal "U.F.O. International" publishes contactee experiences and information received from advanced races of people on other planets. Mr. Green sees the space people's visits to our planet at this time as the fulfillment of biblical prophesies and promises.

SYDNEY OMARR

His debates, articles – syndicated astrology columns in two-hundred newspapers and in seventeen languages, books and radio essays (Sydney Omarr's Almanac) have attracted persons of such diversified interests as science editor, John L. O'Neill, numerologist. Ariel Yvon Taylor, crime reporter James Crenshaw, mystery writer Craig Rice, poet Lawrence Lipton, novelist Aldous Huxley, writers Henry Miller, Kenneth Patchen, William Carlos Williams and mathematician Carl Payne Tobey who states flatly: "If Sydney Omarr is unorthodox, then to heck with orthodoxy."

Mr. Omarr is widely known for his knowledge of many metaphysical and occult sciences and his efforts to popularize esoteric elements of modern literature.

Although a native of Philadelphia, Omarr currently resides in Los Angeles, where occasionally he lectures and debates with astronomers and psychologists and continues still another facet of his career – editing and reporting.

His choice comments in the motion picture "Strange Sightings" are quite striking and challenging.

DANIEL FRY

When Mr. Fry speaks of "Space Travel" -- he knows what he is talking about.

A Ph.D. (Saint Andrews University. Scotland), Mr. Fry was in charge of instrument installation for missile control and guidance in block houses at the White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico.

He is presently a member of The Engineer's Society (San Fernando Valley Chapter), a Director of Astrolab Testing Corporation, Vice President of Crescent Engineering and Research Company and a consultant to Lockheed Aircraft and Basic Magnesium. Inc., in the field of instrumentation.

Mr. Fry lectures extensively on scientific subjects, including U.F.O.'s. and has authored four books: "The White Sands Incident", "Steps To The Stars". "To Men of Earth", and "Atoms, Galaxies and Understanding".

FRED ANDERSON

Fred Anderson is one of KNX News' youngest reporters. It takes a young man to cover all the ground necessary to produce KNX Radio's daily half hour news documentary KALEIDOSCOPE.

In the late 1940's, Fred attended the Leland Powers School of Drama in Boston. Massachusetts. During college years, he studied drama and appeared in several college plays and musicals. After college, he worked as a musician with bands on the East Coast. His career in show business came to an abrupt halt when, in 1952, he was introduced to radio and news reporting at WAAB in Worchester, Massachusetts.

Fred then traveled to Boston and CBS owned WEEI; then to WBOS and WCOP, also in Boston. After news-reporting stints in New England, Fred became a reporter for United Press International. Within a year, he was News Director for WJBW in New Orleans, Louisiana.

In 1960, Fred came to Los Angeles to join the announcing staff of station KGBS. After two years at KGBS, Fred joined the ABC radio news as a reporter on the "Weekend West" network series. In the fall of 1963 KNX offered Fred Anderson a newsman's dream assignment -- KALEIDOSCOPE.

His interest in the Flying Saucer Mystery was spurred when he covered the 1st International UFO. Space & Science Convention which was held in Los Angeles. He interviewed people who had come from all parts of the Western States.

PETER HURKOS

Peter Hurkos began a new and bizarre existence after a fall from a ladder in Holland, 1943. After his recovery from a skull fracture a series of incidents made him aware that he had the incredible ability to visualize the past associations of physical objects merely by touching them - something he calls "psychometrics".

The first incident involved a handshake with a fellow patient in the hospital where Hurkos was recovering from his head injury. The mundane act of handshaking was enough for Hurkos to learn that the man was a British agent and that he was going to be killed by the Gestapo on Kalver Street a few days later. He was. The truth of this incident was corroborated by Hurkos' nurse and doctor, as well as by other hospital officials who learned of Hurkos' premonition before the killing.

In time, Hurkos became known throughout Europe as "The Man With the Radar Mind". Pope Pius XII commended his work in rescuing victims of Nazism and urged that he use his extraordinary powers only for the good of mankind.

Mr. Hurkos achievements in the field of extra-sensory perception have been written about extensively in the magazines and newspapers of the world. Recently, LIFE Magazine covered his unique efforts on the infamous Boston Strangler Case. His work in solving over thirty murders in seventeen countries, and locating missing persons has been acknowledged by numerous police officials, and he holds honorary badges from nine police departs in the United States.

Between solving murders, Hurkos recovered the Stone of Scone, stolen by Scottish citizens from Westminster Abbey and unearthed buried treasure.

Peter Hurkos is a genuine psychic phenomenon - one of the greatest rarities of our time.

When interviewed on the motion picture " Phenomena 7.7,.", he not only revealed his own feeling on the matter of "space-people" but opened the avenue of thought that has many to wonder just how many persons from other planets are walking among us.

GEORGE W. VAN TASSEL

George Van Tassel was born in Jefferson, Ohio, in 1910. He moved to California in 1930 and spent the next twenty years in aircraft work.

His love for the desert and interest in U.F.O. caused him to lease Giant Rock Airport from the government and purchase an adjoining forty acre ranch, ten acres of which were given to an organization he founded to explore unseen truths.

On this ten acres, Mr. Van Tassell has constructed the Integratron – a time-machine for basic research on rejuvination, anti-gravity and time travel . Its creator says the machine is based on formulas he received from outer space.

Mr. Van Tassel is Director of the Ministry of Universal Wisdom. Inc., operator of the Giant Rock Airport and nearby ranch, U.F.O. lecturer and publisher of a monthly pamphlet called PROCEEDINGS, which keeps its readers up to date on the latest information from space friends.

UFO Buff Offers Talk, Movie Here

Dr. Frank E. Stranges of Venice, Calif., a student of flying saucer reports and lore for 21 years, will present his 80-minute color film "Phenomena 7.7" for the first time in Phoenix tonight at 7:30 at the Women's Club of Phoenix, 302 W. Earll Drive.

The "7.7" refers to the approximate percentage of unexplained sightings of supposed saucers, or unidentified flying objects (UFOs), throughout the United States.

The film includes discussion by authorities and many purported photographs of flying saucers. The showing is open to the public. Admission is $2.

IN AN INTERVIEW, Stranges said the Air Force is still holding back facts but "with the leading magazines explaining these things the confusion is less." Articles about UFOs appear in the current issues of the Saturday Evening Post and Science Digest.

"Everything that flies up there is not a UFO," but many objects sighted are spacecraft from other planets, the moon or even other solar systems, he said.

Since 1960, he said, Mount Palomar Observatory has photographed strange objects going in and out of the crater Clausius on the moon.

THIS YEAR, major sightings of UFOs have occurred all along the East Coast from Maine to Florida and in Chicago, Oklahoma City, Denver, Michigan and California, he said.

Skepticism is "practically nil now," Stranges said.

He said he wrote a letter to President Johnson complaining of the lack of attention being given UFOs and the lack of information passed out by the Air Force. He received a reply denying any cover-up from Col. William E. Poe of the Air Force.

UFO Film At SJS Tuesday

A conroversial 90-minute documentary filming 20 years of unidentified flying object investigation by psychologist - sociologist Dr. Frank Stranges will be screened Tuesday night by the San Jose State College Para Psychology Society.

The showing at 7:30 in Morris Dailey Auditorium will be opened to the public. An afternoon show will be for students and faculty only.

Titled "Phenomena 7.7," the color documentary will have its world premier next month in Los Angeles. The SJS showing will be the first for California. One prior showing at the University of Arizona some weeks ago filled the school's auditorium to overflowing three nights in a row.

Stranges includes many interviews with persons from all walks of life who claim to have sighted UFOs. He also presents several film tracks, many taken by military experts, of apparent UFOs flashing through the skies. He lists Dr. Werner Von Braun among consulting scientists who assisted producing the documentary.

The film reportedly already has upset a number of government officials. But ther is a special thank-you to the United States Air Force for it cooperation.

UFO Also Seems to Mean Unusual Film Obscuration

A documentary film titled "Phenomena 7.7" — the percentage of Unidentified Flying Objects unexplained by the Air Force—was shown Sunday at Wilshire Ebell Theater. It reached the screen only after a cloak and dagger episode right out of the CIA.

The film was produced by Dr. Frank Stranges, a minister, who has been interested in UFOs ever since his college roommate, a onetime Marine flyer, told him he'd positively seen one.

In putting together the film, which presents sightings in Socorro, N.M., and Brazil and interviews with people who claim to have seen UFOs, Dr. Stranges called in Ewing Brown, whose firm, Movie Tech, does motion picture technical work.

A new print had been ordered from a local lab but when one of Brown's aides called for it he was told someone had already picked it up.

After considerable consternation the lab found the print had been given in error to the driver for a big aircraft company involved in the space program.

There the film apparently went from department to department with no one claiming clearance to view it. From the title it was assumed to concern a classified project. Eventually it was placed in a vault.

It was retrieved in time to be shown but not without red faces at the aircraft factory.

Things are sensitive all over this semester.

Authority on Flying Saucers to Speak in Yucaipa

YUCAIPA — An authority on extra-terrestial space craft, otherwise known as flying saucers, will attempt to answer the question "Saucers — Fact or Fiction?" during a lecture tonight in Yucaipa.

Dr. Frank E. Stranges, president of International Evangelism Crusades and an author and motion picture producer on flying saucers, will speak at 8 p.m. at Yucaipa Elementary School auditorium under the auspices of Yucaipa Valley Understanding Unit 61.

The unit said the lecture is being offered "as a sincere gesture to cast light on the subject of extra-terrestial space crafts and to promote a better understanding between people and the worlds they live in."

Dr. Stranges holds doctor of divinity degrees from Church School of Theology in New Hampshire and from Williams College in Berkeley, and a doctor of metaphysics from the Society of St. Luke the Physician in London.

He has produced the film "Phenomena 7.7," a color documentary on flying saucers, that is to be released soon.

DOCTOR GEORGE KING

Doctor George King was born in England on January 23, 1919. In 1944 he began to practice Yoga, eventually learning how to bring the mystic fire of Kundahni under conscious control in order to attain the elevated state of Cosmic Consciousness. In 1954 he was contacted by Cosmic Intelligences who informed him: "You are to become the voice of Interplanetary Parliament." Since this first contact, he has devoted the whole of his life in the service of the Cosmic Masters, by founding the Aetherius Society, an International Metaphysical Order.

George King has demonstrated his ability to gain telepathic rapport through Yogic Samadhi with Cosmic Intelligences, hundreds of times before the public. He was the first person ever to demonstrate Yogic Samadhi over B.B.C. television in London so that a Cosmic Master from the planet Venus could actually speak to Britain on May 21, 1959. Doctor King has enjoyed several physical contacts with Cosmic Intelligences who revealed to him certain hidden mysteries of creation and the universe.

He has also been chosen for several difficult assignments which were beneficial to the world as a whole. Among them are: "Operation Starlight", in which nineteen mountains were charged with Cosmic Energy around the world, and the current assignment "Operation Bluewater", which is still being performed off the coast of Southern California, on a major psychic center of Earth.

As president of the Aetherius Society, with headquarters in Los Angeles, Doctor King has written many metaphysical lessons and two major books: "You Are Responsible!" and "The Nine Freedoms", a metaphysical treatise on the progress through Ascension to Cosmic Existence.

MICHAEL X. BARTON

Michael X. Barton is widely known for his New-Age writings, and for his research in the field of Ufology (Flying Saucers). He has been an active figure in this field since 1954, when his attention was first drawn to the subject of Unidentified Flying Objects and extra-terrestial beings by his personal sightings and telepathic contacts.

In 1960 Michael organized several very successful Spacecraft Conventions at Harmony Grove in Escondido, California. During the July 4th meeting in that year, a genuine flying saucer made an appearance in the sky almost directly over the lecture hall of the Harmony Grove Camp just as Dr. Frank E. Stranges was preparing to address the Convention.

In addition to his earlier contacts with outer space intelligences, Michael has recently been contacted by a Supernormal Being apparently from a dimension other than our own limited three-dimensional world. This Cosmic Visitor is the source of a number of startling predictions - detailed in Michael's latest book, "The Weeping Angel Prediction".

Michael X. Barton is not a spokesman for any earthly church system or religion. "My ministry," he says, "is Universal Truth and Higher Evolution." He has worked together with Dr. Stranges on several lectures and conventions.

DR. F. E. STRANGES AND LT/COL J. McNAMARA

BILL WOLFF

Bill Wolff has been with KNX-CBS for over four years in the capacity of staff writer and producer. He is now that station's Promotion Coordinator.

Before coming to CBS he was Radio-TV Director for a Los Angeles advertising agency. He was also MC for a local television series as well as doing considerable commercial announcing.

Bill is a native of Chicago, Illinois, and worked in that Midwest metropolis as a police reporter for a local weekly news publication before entering the broadcast media. Between 1951 and 1953 Wolff served as a Broadcast Specialist with the American Forces Network at their headquarter station in Frankfurt, Germany.

He became interested in so-called psychic phenomena after a "hair-raising" on-the-scene report inside the authentic Frankenstein Castle in Darmstead. Germany. His adventure at the almost legendary spot was broadcast on the entire Armed Services Network.

Besides free lance writing, his spare time is mostly dedicated to informing the public about Concept Therapy, a self-help philosophy of life Bill Wolff and his wife most heartily subscribe to.

CURTIS JARRETT

The "old pro" of the Strange Sightings cast is found in the portrayal of Fred Anderson, attorney for Doctor Stranges.

After years of stage and night club experience in New York and several years with Ralph Edwards' Truth or Consequences, Mr. Jarrett moved to Hollywood where he has racked up one credit after another: RHUBARB for Paramount; TREASURE OF MONTE CRISTO, Lippert Productions; THE RACKET. RKO; MR. 880. 20th Century Fox: SOUTHSIDE I -1000 and SIDESHOW for monogram; BONANZA for Paramount and a variety of roles in Paul Coates films.

With the aid of both his professional experience and his contacts, in the entertainment business, Mr. Jarrett spends most of his spare time assisting young people in getting their start in show business. He is well aware that it is virtually impossible to break into show business without the aid of someone inside.

Mr. Jarrett is a bachelor resident of Hollywood and a veteran of the Merchant Marine Service during World War II.

To quote Dr. Stranges. "This man is more than a good actor, he is a genuine 'friend'. During the course of the pre-production stages, he ranks among the few to have faith and confidence in the motion picture to actually stick by the stuff."

PART VI

EPILOG

Twenty-one years is a long time to investigate any given subject without causing some ripples. Waves of unconcern, miscalculation and misinterpretation on the part of both officials and nonofficials have caused this writer to dig even deeper into the UFO mystery. The waters have indeed been very troubled.

However, the tide has changed. With the advent of serious consideration on the part of the U.S. Government, we notice, with great anticipation, a carefully manned UFO Investigation Division of the Air Force located here in California. Manned, that is, by a full Colonel and staff. This represents a new era whereby the general public expects to be kept current concerning Unidentified Flying Objects.

The sum of $313,000 has been allotted to the University of Colorado to investigate the mysterious unknown UFO percentage sightings of UFOs. At the helm of this carefully chosen Committee, we find the capable Dr. Edward Condon, Physicist; Robert J. Low, Assistant Dean of the University of Colorado Graduate School; Dr. Franklin E. Roach, Astrophysicist; Dr. Stuart W. Cook, Chairman of the University's Psychology Dept. and their assistants. Although the resolution was passed on the 7th of October, 1966, the actual investigation has begun on the 1st of February, 1967. This important study will consume about fifteen months. At the end of that time period, it is expected that the United States Air Force will make public the findings of this Committee. Whatever recommendations will be made relative to further action, at this point, is unknown.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, with the awesome reality of one major Texas Blackout already a matter of history, the President of the United States still maintains a strict policy of forwarding public inquiries regarding UFOs on to the U.S. Air Force for their personal attention and reply.

It was interesting to note the facts pertaining to the Texas Blackout. The facts were reported as follows:

On December 2,1965,while speaking over the telephone to a White House aide, President L.B.Johnson became quite disturbed when his conversation was interrupted by a 'dead line.' The explanation to the President from the Federal Power Commission Chairman, read as follows:

> 'Phone calls that were being fed into the transcontinental cable system at Fairview, Kansas, went dead. The Presidents phone, the I Love Lucy TV Show along with the Ben Casey and Jimmy Dean Show all went the same way. The regulator blew up at El Paso, Texas. A surge of power hit the cable at Socorro, NewMexico. It was supposed to have cut in power from the storage batteries. . . . but all failed. Cause – –Unknown! !

NOTE: Socorro, New Mexico was the site of a reported UFO landing by a reliable police officer. This incident is fully reported in the new UFO Documentary, "PHENOMENA 7.7." This celebrated case made headlines in many Foreign countries as well as herein the United States.

The United States has experienced a sudden upsurge of UFO activity. Sightings have occurred, during the past year, 'simultaneously,' from Maine to Florida and from Washington to Southern California. This time, sighted by Masses of people who are regarded as 'being responsible.' Not lonely farmers, ranchers, hikers or lone sky gazers, but rather by people who were equipped with cameras and perhaps most important of all..... witnesses ! !

Stories of UFOs and UFO sightings have forced other news from the front pages of leading newspapers as well as National Magazines. Two consecutive issues of LOOK devoted (October 1966) much space to the exploitation of a UFO account wherein a man and woman were purportedly taken aboard a Flying Saucer. The Polular Mechanics Magazine (Nov. '66) points out the possibility of UFOs being responsible for the great east coast blackout. Pageant Magazine asks a pointed question on their July, 1966 cover, "Why the Air Force Hides the Truth About Flying Saucers?" The December 1966 cover of the POST Magazine presents an exciting drawing of two UFOs hovering over an unidentified city with the caption reading. . . "Are Flying Saucers Real? " The article was written by the UFO consultant to the Air Force, Dr. J. Allen Hynek. When a distinguished Scientist, Chairman of the Department of Astronomy at Northwestern University, seriously takes a long second look at the UFO mystery, we can agree that the subject has certainly been elevated from the area of the 'kook' and the 'crackpot' to a level of the intelligent researcher.

In his own words, "after a delay of 18 years, the Air Force and American Science are about to try for the first time, really, to discover what, if anything, we can believe about 'Flying Saucers'. "

The tide is experiencing a definite change. No longer are serious researchers being scoffed at. They are rather being sought out and carefully questioned; are being invited to share their findings with seats of higher learning.

But, though a solution seems quite close, the Mystery is still with us.

Deep space poses many unexplainable yet wondrous phenomenas. Billions are being channeled into further space research and exploration. Perhaps, the MOON EXPLORER, the APOLLO-SATURN V Rocket will contribute to the overall picture of the UFO Mystery. As we stand at the base of this ominous creation of man, we have a feeling of respect mingled with great expectancy. This huge creature rising thirty-six stories high, with an unbelievable one-hundred and sixty million horsepower drive that will thrust this gleaming vehicle through the blackness of deep space, is mute testimony of the accomplishment of man.

Hence, with its three awe-filled astronauts, this challenge to space, which has never flown before, will find its mark on a distant planet, where it has never been before. Maybe . . . in Silent Tribute of the other three who bravely faced death as pioneers of tomorrow.

As we stand on the Brink of Tomorrow, we strangely experience an unusual, unexplainable desire to become as one. . . with the Universe.

Perhaps, in time, this will also come to pass. The Creator, will not be as far off in space as many would have us believe.....as long as man believes, there is still Hope ! !
